

THE ANTIOCH NEWS.

INDEPENDENT IN ALL THINGS, NEUTRAL IN NOTHING AND FOR THE RIGHT AS WE UNDERSTAND THE RIGHT TO BE.

Vol VII, No. 22.

J. J. BURKE
EDITOR AND PUBLISHER

Antioch, Illinois, Thursday Morning, January 25, 1894.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR.
STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Antioch Time Table, Wisconsin Central Line.

Going North	Arr. at Antioch	Going South	Arr. at Chicago
10:10 P.M.	12:10 A.M.	7:15 A.M.	9:25 P.M.
7:30 A.M.	9:30 A.M.	10:10 P.M.	12:10 A.M.
10:10 P.M.	12:10 A.M.	7:15 A.M.	9:25 P.M.
7:30 A.M.	9:30 A.M.	10:10 P.M.	12:10 A.M.

Entered at the Antioch Post-office for transmission through the mails as second class mail matter.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR IN ADVANCE. $1.25 IF NOT PAID IN 60 DAYS.

J. J. BURKE, EDITOR.

Antioch Home News.

Do your wants in the News.
Joy D. Williams spent Sunday at home.

George Huber is now considered at of danger.

Percy Chinn returned from Evanston Thursday of last week.

Herbert Doolittle, of Waukegan, was a caller at our office Friday.

Miss Amy Morse, of Gray's Lake, visited in Antioch Saturday of last week.

Mrs. H. Osmond, of Richmond, visited relatives here a few days last week.

Frank Norton has organized a class to which he will impart the secrets of stenography.

Fishing through the ice was a pretty risky business during last week. The ice was very unsafe.

Bon Stone opened a shoe store at Silver Lake some weeks ago and reports business as being equal to his expectations.

Owing to the bad roads only a few of our Antioch Woodmen attended the banquet at Gray's Lake last Friday evening.

Wm. Bartlett has purchased the house and lot here, and is going to live in it with his family.

Those desiring to see the news of the World's Fair and other scenes from various parts of the globe should watch the Chicago dailies and save the coupons.

S. M. Spafford opened a musical convention at Gray's Lake Monday evening. All should attend the concert which will be given there Friday (to-morrow) evening.

Rev. D. McLean assisted Rev. Abel in conducting the revival meetings during a part of this week. Rev. McLean is a favorite with Antioch's church going people.

Miss Carrie Chard spent last week here visiting friends and assisting with the revival meetings. She also took part in the Woodmen's entertainment at Gray's Lake, Friday evening.

Rev. Jackson preached to a large congregation at the M. E. church, of this village, Friday evening. His sermon was a powerful and convincing appeal to sinners, to persuade them to unite with the church.

Some of our nimrods are preparing for the coming of the feathery tribe and some think they will not have long to wait if this weather holds out. When you see the ducks moving north don't look for any more cold weather.

Patti did not come to Antioch but the Casino Comedy Co. did. The only reason we can assign for Patti's fighting us is that the railroad accommodations are so unfavorable in getting to and from our village that she could not afford to lose the time.

We have several inquiries for farm, acre and residence property and if you have anything to sell in this line list with us. No charges are made until sale is effected and a small commission is all we then ask. We have numerous applications for loans and can place your money out on good security. Call in and see us if you have money to loan or wish to borrow. J. Burke, real-estate and loans.

Get your wedding stationery at the NEWS office.

Charles Ames made a business trip to Chicago last week.

George E. Cropper spent Sunday with relatives at Grass Lake.

If you are up real early in the morning you will see the mercury just a few below zero.

Frank Pitman Sr. has been quite sick for some days past. The weather and "grip" together are the cause of his confinement.

George Webb has rented Joseph Kelly's house on Main street and will move from Lake Villa in the near future. Mr. Webb has accepted a position as salesman for a Chicago grocery house.

The outlook for numerous real-estate deals in this locality is very good, as a number of Chicago parties are seeking locations here. The outlook for several new buildings in the village is promising and in all probability the growth of the village this year will fully equal that of the past year.

The annual meeting of the Lake County Agricultural Society will be held at Libertyville, Wednesday, February 7, 1894, at 1:30 p. m., for the election of officers and to transact any other business that may properly come before the meeting.

O. E. CHURCHILL, Pres.
Sec.

The Casino Comedy Co., met with good success during their three nights performance at the Opera House. The first play, "A Wife's Peril," drew a large crowd but "Lady Audley's Secret," which was presented Tuesday night, received much better patronage. On Wednesday night the house was crowded. The weather kept many away who would have been present had circumstances permitted.

Charley Webb has commenced to collect the taxes and you will now have an opportunity to find out how much the assessor considered your property worth. If your taxes are high don't kick, as almost everyone tries to convey the idea that he is "well healed." If your taxes are low consider yourself fortunate, pay them and if you have anything left come around and pay the printer and thus enable him to pay his taxes.

Rev. Clarence Abel addressed a large congregation from the pulpit at the M. E. church Sunday evening. The theme of his discourse was "Faith in the Lord Jesus Christ can accomplish anything." The battle against sin is not a battle of physical powers and endurance but is a faith battle. The sermon was listened to attentively. It must be at least some satisfaction to a speaker to address so attentive an audience.

Much talking is being done in regard to establishing a pleasure club and reading room in Antioch. It seems that enough capital can be easily secured but there seems to be no one to take the lead. One thousand dollars would be sufficient funds to start to establish such an institution on a solid basis. It would be only a small matter to get one hundred subscribers, whose share would be but ten dollars. Give this matter your attention and in a short time the matter will be favorably considered by a sufficient number to make the first move toward organizing.

Miss Rose Effinger is visiting in Waukegan.

S. O. Stevens, of Richmond, was here Sunday.

H. Proctor has become a resident of our village.

Attend the lecture at the opera house tomorrow (Friday) evening.

Miss Vinnie Jamieson has been visiting relatives and friends here, returning to Millburn Sunday.

The doctors report not so much sickness as a few weeks ago. The grip has been pretty well over the locality.

The long wished for rain visited this locality Friday night and Saturday, and those who had dry cisterns are now happy.

L. J. Simons and G. D. Paddock have given up their intended trip to Florida. The others of the party as announced in last week's News, started Monday for the sunny south land.

Until further notice Barlow, Hatch & Co., the photographers, will give an elegant frame with every dozen cabinet photographs at $2.50 per dozen. Call at the gallery and see them.

Frank Strain, who lives near Hickory, was called to Richmond Sunday by the death of his mother, who passed away suddenly Saturday evening. The first news Mr. Strain received that she was failing was that she had passed to the better world.

W. M. Sherman, proprietor of the Columbian Hotel at Richmond, Ill., was in town Sunday. He has not visited Antioch for some time and like everyone else who has been away for a short period, expressed himself as being greatly satisfied with the growth of our village.

We think that an electric light would be an improvement to the church yard, when clouds obscure the moon's bright face. By this means mistakes would be avoided in recognizing friends as they come from church. In case a light is not procured we advise a certain young man to invest in a pair of spectacles and a bottle of Zuni or Kickapoo medicine to quiet his nerves.

Many suggestions have been made in regard to the young man who got lost in the church yard the other night. We publish a few of them for the public good. One experienced man said: "I would advise him to put a bell on his coat so people can tell him who he is." Another who claims to be authority on such matters, said: "I would advise him to carry a dark lantern." Another volunteered the following: "After many thrilling and heart-rending experiences in various parts of the world, I have reached one conclusion. I decided not to go out after sundown without a guide and I'm a bachelor yet. I do not give this as advice but just as my experience." Another walking encyclopedia gave vent to his opinion as follows: "There are moments when we'd like to be alone, but it won't do with this man. By his actions he appeared to be lonesome." In other very pleasant and accommodating old gentleman said: "My joy can go with him at any time, so that another mishap may not occur." One of the doctors suggested the following prescription: "One rubber boot heel, one pint of Wake-sha water, three pints of glucose molasses (can be had at any of the stores), one empty blue glass bottle, three eggs that the hen sat on last summer without success. Boil over a cold fire until it will just fill one two ounce vial. Take one teaspoonful just before going to—where the medicine man's mind seemed to wander. "It won't happen again afterwards." There were many more suggestions but our space is limited.

C. Coon shipped hogs Monday night.

Frank Mathews has returned from his travels.

200 sugar barrels at 5 cents each at C. O. Foltz & Co.'s.

Thomas Brogan has gone to Chicago where he will accept a position as bookkeeper of a large firm.

E. J. Gooden has not yet returned from his visit to—His friends are at a loss to know what has become of him.

Rev. Donald McLean did not arrive Monday evening as was expected. Rev. Abel was also absent. After a brief song service the meeting was dismissed.

Don't forget Barlow, Hatch & Co's great offer. A large, neat frame with every dozen cabinet photographs at $2.50 per dozen. Come while the offer holds good.

The farmers are wearing smiles of satisfaction on their faces. The prospect of a dry winter had caused them to be a little anxious about next year's crops, but this last rain drove all these fears away.

A party of little folks gathered at the residence of Mrs. Morley last Friday evening to pay their respects to Miss Susie. As is usually the case at such events all enjoyed a most pleasant evening.

The pupils of the Lake Villa school, under the direction of their teacher, Miss Tina Walsh, will give an entertainment Friday evening, Feb. 2, 1894, in the church. The program will consist of recitations, dialogues, songs etc. Admission 10 cents.

If you would spend a leisure hour in profit and enjoyment, read Preserved Wheeler's Chicago Stories, "From Side Streets and Boulevards." For sale by A. C. McClurg & Co., Congregational Publishing Co. and Brentano, Chicago. Price, post paid, one dollar.

The Woodmen's entertainment at Gray's Lake, last Friday evening, was a success in every particular. The attendance was large and the Woodmen made things pleasant for everybody. The program was interesting and amusing. Miss Carrie Chard, S. M. Spafford and Henry Barron especially distinguished themselves. The oyster supper at the hotel was also an interesting part of the evening's program. Everybody went home happy and wishing that the Woodmen would give their entertainments oftener.

When the golden sun is setting and the day is nearly gone, when the cows are homeward coming, slowly, when the day is done, think then of the weary printer, who from rising of the sun, has been laboring unceasing, yet his work is just begun. Slow the darkness gathers round us, while he labors on in vain, with weary heart and empty pocket, till the morning comes again. Then the mournful wind is sighing, colder grows the frosty air, and the coal bin almost empty, hollowed by the devil's care. Some sit before their hearthstone, and in comfort all the while, searching through the weekly papers, printed in the latest style. Does he ever for one moment think the cost is nothing small, to the editor to gather news of every, each, and all? Yet this gentleman of leisure will not once remember when he his last subscription settled, or the thankful look he then from that never tiring genius did receive although the pen kept on scratching, never resting, that when next week came around, names and faces, news of all kinds in the paper might be found. Let us tell to those who have not of the printer's cast of thought, some three years have passed unheeded and to him no money brought. Please remember

CLEARING SALES.

In order to reduce stock as much as possible before invoicing, we will offer many desirable goods at extremely low prices, also many odds and ends, remnants etc., at prices to close them out before February 1st.

This sale will include goods in every line we handle. We have taken a good deal of pains to have this sale as interesting as we can make it, and prices low enough to induce all to buy freely of the many things you can save money on at this time. 10 per-cent discount on Clothing and all odd suits.

Coats, pants and vests will be sold at extreme low prices to close out in a hurry. Ladies' Wraps and Jackets. Misses Cloaks and Jackets and Boys' Overcoats, you can buy for what the material in them is worth, and some for even less.

We have the largest line of remnants we have ever had at one time, and at the lowest prices. If you are ever going to need a fine Shawl, now is the time to buy it. We have marked our Bed Blankets at prices that will induce customers to buy for next Winter. Men's heavy Slippers 50 cents per pair, former price $1.00 and $1.25. Childrens Goodyear Overshoes 50c. per pair. A line of Mens red underwear at 35c. a garment. 100 piece decorated dinner sets for $7.00. This is the cheapest and most desirable offer we ever made in the Crockery line. Everything we have in the Hardware line will be sold very cheap; tinware and all kinds of house-furnishing goods, also a fine line of cutlery—all must be closed out before February 1st. Low prices will do it.

We have bought 25 dozen of the best quality of brooms—four sewed—at less than cost to manufacture; we will sell them at 18c. two for 35c., not more than two to a customer.

To those who come early we will have some special good bargains for, so that their friends who see them will come also. Yours For Trade, us from this on and your dollars freely give, else the gleaner of news items will not long among you live.

C. O. Foltz & Co., Antioch, Ills.

Official.

It is our earnest desire to impress upon the minds of the public the superiority of the service offered by the Wisconsin Central Lines to Milwaukee, Chicago and all points between and beyond. Our Pullman Vestibuled Drawing Room Sleepers, Dining Cars and Coaches of the latest design. Its Dining Car Service is unsurpassed, which accounts to a great degree, for the popularity of this line. The Wisconsin Central Lines, in connection with Northern Pacific R. R., is the only line from Pacific Coast points, over which both Pullman Vestibuled, first-class, and Pullman Tourist Cars are operated via St. Paul without change to Chicago.

Pamphlets giving valuable information can be obtained free upon application to your nearest ticket agent, or J. A. C. POSE, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, Chicago, Ill.

IF YOU HAVE

GEO. R. OLCOTT

DENTIST,

ANTIOCH, ILL.

He Can Save Them

OR EXTRACT THEM

.. WITHOUT PAIN ..

FRED PITMAN.

ANTIOCH, - ILLINOIS.

Manufacturer and Dealer in

HAND-MADE HARNESSES

Whips, Robes and Blankets.

I handle a line of the very best Machine made goods and sell the same

AT BED ROCK PRICES.

In the line of Custom work and Repairs I use the Best Oak tanned Leather and will fill your order for a set of

HAND MADE HARNESSES

at a price as low as other dealers ask

For Harness made by Machinery.

I offer a Special Discount on

STRAPS, BRIDLES & HALTERS,

AND WILL DO REPAIR WORK

AT LIVE AND LET LIVE PRICES.

Call in and let me quote you prices on

A LARGE LINE OF BLANKETS

now in stock ready for inspection.

Yours anxious to please, FRED PITMAN.

JEWELRY.

I am daily adding to my stock and now have a nice lot of first class goods to show.

HAVE YOU A NICKLE

Alarm Clock? If not come in and let me show you a nice line of them at 99 Cents. They are cheap at $1.50.

I have a splendid line of New Silverware that I am going to sell you Cheap.

GOOD WORK. LOW PRICES.

PROMPT ATTENTION.

Chas. H. Barber,

JEWELER.

THE NEWS, ...

... ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR.

BAMBOOZLING GRANDMA.

"There never was a grandma half so good!" He whispered while he sat in his chair...

The Fairy Bird and the Princess. The Princess Amaranthe had a dove, which she kept in a golden cage...

Then all the courtiers exclaimed and the king, her father, was not a little angry, and sending for her said: "Daughter, if thou dost not marry within the year thou mayest even shift for thyself..."

So six months passed away and there came a second prince to court. He was ugly and old, but was master of two kingdoms and twelve castles...

"If you hate him at first sight," answered the bird; "how will you hate him when you are forced to see him every day?"

"I will not become his wife, either." Then the prince packed up his ivory chariot, and the lace veil and the velvet dress, in a violent huff, and took himself off...

"This one I love." "Nay, then, take him!" answered the bird. But the whole court was in an uproar, for this young knight had only his sweet voice, and his good sword...

"How now?" asked the dove. "Have you no regrets for the twelve castles, the ivory chariot and the velvet dresses?"

into rows of mirrors and columns, and the beams over their heads grew into noble arches, and the floor became marble, and the knight's poor dress turned to cloth of gold...

So the princess' wisdom was proven to the king, her father, who, since he has seen the thousand elephants laden with treasure, is exceedingly fond of talking about his son-in-law.

A few miles from the banks of the Alabama river, about fifty miles above the Gulf coast, in a lovely wooded country, is a beautiful army post, called after the home of Washington, Mt. Vernon.

A railroad runs immediately by the post, of which it is one of the stations. Travelers on this road find objects of peculiar interest in seeing there the famous Indian chief, Geronimo, and a part of his band...

Geronimo and his braves are now engaged in the peaceful occupation of making bows, arrows and blow-guns, which they sell to the travelers who stop on their way to see them.

A pathetic incident, showing the Indian's undying love for liberty, recently occurred at Mount Vernon. A young Indian, who had been for three years at Carlisle, Pa., after his course there was finished, enlisted in the army and was sent to Mount Vernon.

Perhaps he was over-persuaded to enlist. At any rate, he did not appreciate what a soldier's garrison life meant. After a trial of its regularity, monotony and confinement, he concluded that it was not the life for him.

Following the north star, he made his way along the banks of the river till he reached an inland town, about a hundred miles away. There curiosity or need led him to stop, and there he quickly came to grief.

During the interval of a day or two between his arrest and the arrival of the sergeant sent to take him to his post, One Star reposed behind the bars of the city prison, where he had the object of much interest to the citizens, and of friendly sympathy when he gave his reasons for deserting.

"I was kindly treated," he said, "and well cared for. I had everything I needed or desired, except liberty. That I could not live without. I wanted to be free and go and come and do as I wished."

When asked if he did not fear punishment when he returned to his post, he said:

"No. They will certainly imprison me, with all its hardships. Perhaps they will shoot me. But I don't care to live without liberty."

Poor One Star is now suffering the penalty of his desertion.—Philadelphia Times.

The Parrot's Joke. There is a parrot in Philadelphia and his name is Jim. He is right up to date so far as the grasping of opportunities is concerned, and every once in a while he does something that serves to keep this impression firmly fixed in the minds of those about him.

Adjoining the house where Jim rules supreme is a coal yard. There are trestles in it, on which the lumpy black iron horses push cars laden with black diamonds. The freight men have a peculiar cry, indicating when to shoot the cars on the trestles. It is something like "Wah-hoo-o-whoop."

Jim's cage was moved to the side of the house where the coal yard is the other day, and through the window he heard the cries of the trainmen and saw the cars shoot. The cry wasn't in Jim's vocabulary, and he took it like a duck does 't water. That night he began to practice on the vocal signal. The imitation was a little ragged edged at first, but the festive bird soon had his vocal chords trained down to the accompaniment.

Then he waited for his chance. It came the following day. The window where his cage was placed had been put up in order to air the room. The coal train came puffing along. There was a little drilling and a section was taken out, part of which was to go on the trestle of the coal yard. Then came Jim's opportunity. Before the two center cars could be coupled the mischievous bird inflated his lungs and shrieked "Wah-hoo-o-whoop."

The engineer pulled the lever and away shot the uncoupled section on trestle. It was up the incline before half the force had been expended and three of the cars jumped the guard and tumbled into the yard below. The trainmen stood aghast with astonishment, and Jim—why he just grinned.

FOR LITTLE MISS

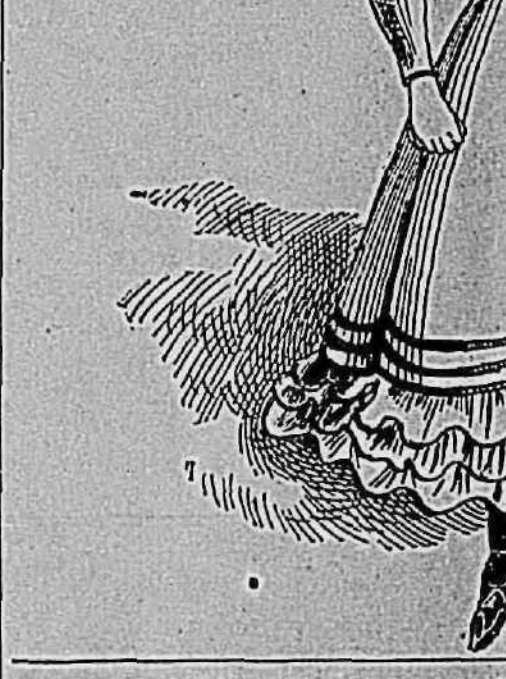

STUNNING COSTUMES FOR CROWDING GIRLS.

Like Those of Their Grown-Up Sisters They Are Borrowed from Many Epochs—Luxurious Bodices—General Notes of the Modes.

The gowns for the small little girls and the big little girls were never so fascinating as this season, for like the gowns of the grown up folks they are copied from those of all epochs, and have something of the splendor of the court and the quaintness of the peasant in their fashioning.

A pretty little dress of this kind is of gray accordion-plaited, chiffon, in a pinkish pale shade, with a smocked yoke and full double puff of pink chiffon.

And the accordion-plaited dress of the older sisters is of figured crepe du chene, all in white, the skirt is striped with bands of gulf purple insertion, and put on in the form of a deep Spanish flounce beneath a ruche of lace. The waist is made of strips of insertion and the plaited material, with a ruffle at the belt edged with lace and many ruffles over the shoulder.

The Louis XV. Pierrotte dress is a Watteau arrangement of paniers in shell pink satin silk, with ruchings of lace and buttons of silver. The hat is white leghorn with pink and blue rib bons. The Little Witch dress is of yellow satin decorated with frogs, bats and serpents cut out of black. Plaited epaulets of black velvet form the sleeves, and a sort of black gauze ties on the side of the skirt.

The regulation evening dress for little boys old enough to wear it is the Eton suit, with long trousers, short coat and broad round linen collar.

Boys of 10 years wear this suit, and very elegant they appear in the dignified dress. Younger boys wear the dressy suits of velvet or of fine black cloth with white waistcoat and shirt very much ruffled with lace; and fanciful mothers with dutiful little boys that will put up with it, favor the page's dress of black velvet with the long white waistcoat and lace ruffles and cravat.

loped in rosette bows, whose ends fall to the bottom of the skirt. But more fascinating than all these are the little fancy dresses for the masked ball which is a feature of Christmas week. There is the ever popular "Folly," with her white lace frock partly veiled with yellow van-dykes tipped with gold grolots; the sash and sleeves and pointed cap are all of scarlet, and the bangle in her hand is musical with swinging silver bells and a music box inside.

Now that the cult of step dancing is being acknowledged as worthy of a prominent place in the scholastic curriculum, the accordion-plaited frock is included in almost every child's wardrobe, because it lends itself with such grace to the convolutions of the mazy dance.

A pretty little dress of this kind is of gray accordion-plaited, chiffon, in a pinkish pale shade, with a smocked yoke and full double puff of pink chiffon.

And the accordion-plaited dress of the older sisters is of figured crepe du

BESIEGED BY JABALIS.

A SURVEYING PARTY'S THRILLING ADVENTURE.

Surrounded by a Drive of Feroocious Pecaries—Thirty-Nine of the Brutes Slaughtered Before the Rest Gave Up the Fight.

In the fall of 1887 a party of surveyors left Fort Yuma, Cal., on duty in connection with the mile posts and other landmarks distributed along the international boundary line between Upper and Lower California.

The first two days out were pleasant enough, but the third day proved anything but agreeable, for a drizzly, wet rain set in which kept every one closely confined to the camp. While the moisture was falling thick and fast a Mexican officer, accompanied by an escort, rode up and claimed shelter, which the surveyors were glad enough to grant for the sake of their company.

The officer related a startling story of having encountered four large Mexican lions not two hours previous, which animals seemed quite ferocious and hungry, and actually had disputed their passage through the chaparral. The men of the escort had fired and wounded two of the brutes, but the quartet of monsters finally carried themselves sullenly off and disappeared in the timber.

He also said the country was full of black-tail deer that were racing through the timber and galloping over the hills, and as for smaller game, such as long-eared rabbits, sage hens and chaparral cocks, they were so numerous and tame that they could almost be knocked over with clubs.

Rain or no rain, this was an opportunity not to be lost, and three of the surveying party accompanied by one of the Mexicans, at once set out for the hills where the game was said to be. They rode on through a rocky, half-mountainous country, covered with stunted oaks and sharp-pointed chaparral, and then, far away in the distance, on the summit of a bunch of crags, they descried a dozen objects outlined against the sky which appeared to be mountain sheep of the Sierra Madre species.

It was decided to stalk them; so the party, after picketing their horses, divided, two going up a draw in the mountains to the left and the other two swinging around to the right, with a mutual agreement to keep on and finally meet at the base of the crags to compare notes, where the sheep had first been seen.

"I was with the Mexican sergeant," said Mr. Gallard, one of the surveyors, "and we climbed to a ridge where, peeping over, I scanned the country for half a mile, but could see no living creature. Then, from the right where I was not looking, like a dream came five beautiful black tails whirling swiftly down the mountain valley, and not 200 yards behind them were a full pack of timber wolves in hot pursuit. We both fired at once at the leader. Head dropped the buck, tumbling down over heels in the rocks and the others scrambled away at the top of their speed and soon disappeared around a bend in the canyon, notwithstanding the shower of lead we sent after them, the wolves at the first discharge, themselves took to their heels in an opposite direction, and we never saw them afterward."

"After dressing and quartering the game each of us shouldered a moiety and started off down the canyon to the left to find our comrades. Never shall I forget the scene that met our eyes after we had advanced about 400 yards into the timber. Even while skinning and preparing our own game rapid and continuous firing could be heard far off to the left, but now upon approaching nearer, loud shouting and hallooing came to our ears, which told us that something unusual had happened or was going on.

We dropped our meat and went forward rapidly, only to find our two friends snugly up a tree with only one gun between them, and surrounded by at least half a hundred Mexican jabalis, who held them close prisoners.

"As soon as this drove of jabalis spied us they abandoned their prisoners at once, and with loud snorts charged directly down upon us at railroad speed. We took to our heels and ran for our lives; but the sergeant, who was evidently used to their tactics, grasped my hand firmly and darting into the canyon over the ragged rocks we ran at headlong pace until we reached a sort of butte or mound, up which we scrambled in a manner and style that I never thought possible.

"Here we in turn became prisoners, and amused ourselves by picking off our assailants, who had formed a circle around our mound, snorting and grunting viciously; but apparently without the sense or ingenuity of climbing up after us. Our broadsides had laid nineteen of them low; but somehow this did not seem in the least to discourage them, for they still grunted and snorted and circled around the mound, intent upon holding us securely until the last one of their number should be killed.

"We had now about run out of ammunition, but just then a shot rang out of the timber, and then another and another, in quick succession, each one of which settled the earthly carcass of a jabali. Our two friends coming down from their original perch and following our retreat, had mounted a second tree, where, at close range, they were able to render us valuable assistance.

"Each shot told, and finally we counted thirty-nine jabalis lying dead at our feet. The remaining survi-ors, still in number, now gave up the fight in disgust, and with a last savage, angry snort, trotted away and were soon lost to view in the thick chaparral and stunted brush oak lining the timber. We descended, joined forces, and then started on the back trail. Our friends had lost their opportunity for a hunt, so we picked up the venison, which still lay where it had been dropped, counted eleven dead jabalis lying about the tree which had sheltered our comrades, and just above dark resumed our march in search of the ponies.

"The corpse where they had been picketed was found without much difficulty, but here a second and awful surprise was waiting us. Two of the horses lay dead on the ground, and a third was fearfully mangled that he shot him off of mercy. The fourth one was entirely missing. It was a plain story, as a writer or plainly and as clearly as a written or printed page. In the soft mud were innumerable huge tracks which indicated that the four lions mentioned by the Mexican officer had been at work. The poor old ponies, with possibly one exception, had no doubt been attacked and simply and literally torn to pieces by this quartet of feroceous brutes.

"It was a dangerous situation for us, and so we felt it to be, and not waiting to secure bridle or trappings, only an additional supply of ammunition from the saddle pockets, without using any more time than was absolutely necessary, we set out of the back trail and made all speed to reach camp. Marching in single file, the sergeant leading, carrying a resinous torch, about midnight a detachment from the camp met us, and from them we learned that the missing pony, badly frightened and fearfully scratched and clawed, had come galloping back to alarm them. It was the first and last hunt I ever experienced in Lower California," said Mr. Gallard, "and I never want to try my luck in that fearful country again."

BESIEGED BY JABALIS.

A SURVEYING PARTY'S THRILLING ADVENTURE.

Surrounded by a Drive of Feroocious Pecaries—Thirty-Nine of the Brutes Slaughtered Before the Rest Gave Up the Fight.

In the fall of 1887 a party of surveyors left Fort Yuma, Cal., on duty in connection with the mile posts and other landmarks distributed along the international boundary line between Upper and Lower California.

The first two days out were pleasant enough, but the third day proved anything but agreeable, for a drizzly, wet rain set in which kept every one closely confined to the camp. While the moisture was falling thick and fast a Mexican officer, accompanied by an escort, rode up and claimed shelter, which the surveyors were glad enough to grant for the sake of their company.

The officer related a startling story of having encountered four large Mexican lions not two hours previous, which animals seemed quite ferocious and hungry, and actually had disputed their passage through the chaparral. The men of the escort had fired and wounded two of the brutes, but the quartet of monsters finally carried themselves sullenly off and disappeared in the timber.

He also said the country was full of black-tail deer that were racing through the timber and galloping over the hills, and as for smaller game, such as long-eared rabbits, sage hens and chaparral cocks, they were so numerous and tame that they could almost be knocked over with clubs.

Rain or no rain, this was an opportunity not to be lost, and three of the surveying party accompanied by one of the Mexicans, at once set out for the hills where the game was said to be. They rode on through a rocky, half-mountainous country, covered with stunted oaks and sharp-pointed chaparral, and then, far away in the distance, on the summit of a bunch of crags, they descried a dozen objects outlined against the sky which appeared to be mountain sheep of the Sierra Madre species.

It was decided to stalk them; so the party, after picketing their horses, divided, two going up a draw in the mountains to the left and the other two swinging around to the right, with a mutual agreement to keep on and finally meet at the base of the crags to compare notes, where the sheep had first been seen.

"I was with the Mexican sergeant," said Mr. Gallard, one of the surveyors, "and we climbed to a ridge where, peeping over, I scanned the country for half a mile, but could see no living creature. Then, from the right where I was not looking, like a dream came five beautiful black tails whirling swiftly down the mountain valley, and not 200 yards behind them were a full pack of timber wolves in hot pursuit. We both fired at once at the leader. Head dropped the buck, tumbling down over heels in the rocks and the others scrambled away at the top of their speed and soon disappeared around a bend in the canyon, notwithstanding the shower of lead we sent after them, the wolves at the first discharge, themselves took to their heels in an opposite direction, and we never saw them afterward."

"After dressing and quartering the game each of us shouldered a moiety and started off down the canyon to the left to find our comrades. Never shall I forget the scene that met our eyes after we had advanced about 400 yards into the timber. Even while skinning and preparing our own game rapid and continuous firing could be heard far off to the left, but now upon approaching nearer, loud shouting and hallooing came to our ears, which told us that something unusual had happened or was going on.

We dropped our meat and went forward rapidly, only to find our two friends snugly up a tree with only one gun between them, and surrounded by at least half a hundred Mexican jabalis, who held them close prisoners.

"As soon as this drove of jabalis spied us they abandoned their prisoners at once, and with loud snorts charged directly down upon us at railroad speed. We took to our heels and ran for our lives; but the sergeant, who was evidently used to their tactics, grasped my hand firmly and darting into the canyon over the ragged rocks we ran at headlong pace until we reached a sort of butte or mound, up which we scrambled in a manner and style that I never thought possible.

"Here we in turn became prisoners, and amused ourselves by picking off our assailants, who had formed a circle around our mound, snorting and grunting viciously; but apparently without the sense or ingenuity of climbing up after us. Our broadsides had laid nineteen of them low; but somehow this did not seem in the least to discourage them, for they still grunted and snorted and circled around the mound, intent upon holding us securely until the last one of their number should be killed.

"We had now about run out of ammunition, but just then a shot rang out of the timber, and then another and another, in quick succession, each one of which settled the earthly carcass of a jabali. Our two friends coming down from their original perch and following our retreat, had mounted a second tree, where, at close range, they were able to render us valuable assistance.

"Each shot told, and finally we counted thirty-nine jabalis lying dead at our feet. The remaining survi-ors, still in number, now gave up the fight in disgust, and with a last savage, angry snort, trotted away and were soon lost to view in the thick chaparral and stunted brush oak lining the timber. We descended, joined forces, and then started on the back trail. Our friends had lost their opportunity for a hunt, so we picked up the venison, which still lay where it had been dropped, counted eleven dead jabalis lying about the tree which had sheltered our comrades, and just above dark resumed our march in search of the ponies.

"The corpse where they had been picketed was found without much difficulty, but here a second and awful surprise was waiting us. Two of the horses lay dead on the ground, and a third was fearfully mangled that he shot him off of mercy. The fourth one was entirely missing. It was a plain story, as a writer or plainly and as clearly as a written or printed page. In the soft mud were innumerable huge tracks which indicated that the four lions mentioned by the Mexican officer had been at work. The poor old ponies, with possibly one exception, had no doubt been attacked and simply and literally torn to pieces by this quartet of feroceous brutes.

"It was a dangerous situation for us, and so we felt it to be, and not waiting to secure bridle or trappings, only an additional supply of ammunition from the saddle pockets, without using any more time than was absolutely necessary, we set out of the back trail and made all speed to reach camp. Marching in single file, the sergeant leading, carrying a resinous torch, about midnight a detachment from the camp met us, and from them we learned that the missing pony, badly frightened and fearfully scratched and clawed, had come galloping back to alarm them. It was the first and last hunt I ever experienced in Lower California," said Mr. Gallard, "and I never want to try my luck in that fearful country again."

ors, still in number, now gave up the fight in disgust, and with a last savage, angry snort, trotted away and were soon lost to view in the thick chaparral and stunted brush oak lining the timber. We descended, joined forces, and then started on the back trail. Our friends had lost their opportunity for a hunt, so we picked up the venison, which still lay where it had been dropped, counted eleven dead jabalis lying about the tree which had sheltered our comrades, and just above dark resumed our march in search of the ponies.

"The corpse where they had been picketed was found without much difficulty, but here a second and awful surprise was waiting us. Two of the horses lay dead on the ground, and a third was fearfully mangled that he shot him off of mercy. The fourth one was entirely missing. It was a plain story, as a writer or plainly and as clearly as a written or printed page. In the soft mud were innumerable huge tracks which indicated that the four lions mentioned by the Mexican officer had been at work. The poor old ponies, with possibly one exception, had no doubt been attacked and simply and literally torn to pieces by this quartet of feroceous brutes.

"It was a dangerous situation for us, and so we felt it to be, and not waiting to secure bridle or trappings, only an additional supply of ammunition from the saddle pockets, without using any more time than was absolutely necessary, we set out of the back trail and made all speed to reach camp. Marching in single file, the sergeant leading, carrying a resinous torch, about midnight a detachment from the camp met us, and from them we learned that the missing pony, badly frightened and fearfully scratched and clawed, had come galloping back to alarm them. It was the first and last hunt I ever experienced in Lower California," said Mr. Gallard, "and I never want to try my luck in that fearful country again."

Some Fido Left. Prisoner—Judge, is this skinny, red-nosed fellow going to be my lawyer?

Judge—He is. You have no attorney, and it is the duty of the court to appoint counsel to defend you. Are you ready for trial?

"Just a minute, yer honor, he's one of these divorce lawyers, ain't he?"

"He is sometimes called a divorce lawyer, sir."

(Straightening himself up) "Jedgo, on thinkin' the matter over, of you hain't no objections, I'll take back that plea of not guilty. I stole the hog."

Had Out Her Wisdom Teeth. Mrs. Sharpleigh, who has five daughters married—Don't have anything more to do with that Mr. Smoothiegh. He is a miserable scoundrel who will do anything for a dollar.

Goodness! Why do you

Mrs. Sharpleigh—He treats me with as much affection and consideration as if I were his own mother.

DAUGHTERS OF EVE.

The woman in the case—the photograph in the locket.

Drinking cups for picnic purposes are now made of paper.

A gilt wire basket is made for serving water cress at the table.

Mrs. Temple, wife of the bishop of London, is a shorthand writer.

Whenever we try to make others happy, we get paid for it in heaven's money.

There is nothing a man hates worse than to have his wife say she wants to have a private talk with him.

"Fwuddy, we can't get through this crowd." "Wait a minute, Cholly. Here comes a lady with an umbrella. We will follow her."

Lady Florence Dixie declares that she knows three women disguised as men, one of whom is a ship captain and the others are pilots.

There are gracious, serene, hopeful and happy old women, who are more beautiful in their wrinkles than they were in their maiden roses.

Women who have babies don't look so pretty when they are young as those who have none, but they are better looking when they become old.

Personal in daily paper: "The young lady to whom I became engaged at the ball last night is hereby requested to send her name and address to the office of this paper."

Mamma, after the elderly visitor had gone away—You shouldn't have run out of the room when Miss Olney tried to take you on her lap, Willie. She was not going to harm you. Willie—She wasn't, hey? She had her mouth puckered all ready or it, anyhow.

The czar of Russia, very fond of music, and he is a accomplished singer. The czarina also delights in hearing the well-known Norse ballads of her childhood. The children of the czar and czarina are likewise endowed with a deep love of music, particularly the joyful grand-duchess, Xenia.

Dr. Lankester has been searching the old newspapers and quotes the following curious advertisement: "Wanted—A woman, middle-aged, to wait upon a lady of great fashion and fortune. The woman must be of the church of England, have had the small-pox, and well-behaved, sober, steady, and well-behaved, and under no circumstances getting up lace and fine linen and doing all things necessary for young lady that goes into all public places and keeps the best company. Inquire of the printer of this paper—October 1, 1774."

THE ANTIOCH NEWS

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE.
ESTABLISHED SEPTEMBER 1, 1887.
TOTALLY DESTROYED BY FIRE, MARCH 30, 1891.
OUT ON TIME APRIL 2, 1891.

THE TREVINOES
JAMES L. LARK CLIFFER
LARKS VILLA ADVOCATE
WADSWORTH BLACKBIRD

— PUBLISHED WEEKLY —
From the Press of The Antioch News.

Where the P. O. address of a subscriber has been changed and no notice of the same received at this office we will in no manner be responsible for the safe delivery of their paper until they have enabled us to make the proper corrections on our books by furnishing their change of address.

Subscribers who for any reason fail to receive their paper regularly should at once communicate the fact to this office, giving in addition to their name their P. O. address in full.

NOTICE TO OUR ADVERTISERS.

As we wish to devote our entire time to news items, up to the hour of going to press on Wednesday, hereafter all changes required to be made on that day, in standing advertisements, in display type, will be charged for at the rate of 15 cents per double column inch, for the space occupied. Reading notices, 15 cents per single column inch. All other days changes are made free of cost. J. J. BURKE, Publisher. Antioch, March 1st, 1893.

For County Treasurer,

JAMES MURRIE,
Of Millburn.

Poon Lawler! He'll be left in the cold.

The income tax bill is prepared for death.

GEAR will doubtless go to the senate from Iowa.

DEMOCRATIC jubilees and banquets are not much unlike funerals now-a-days.

"MEETLY wait and murrain not." Congress will do something pretty soon if it is nothing more than to adjourn.

An effort to amend the sugar schedule of the Wilson bill was made in the House Monday. Better amend the entire bill, or, better yet, reject it.

THE last election held in Chicago is to be taken into court. What for? It won't be tried until it is time to elect a new mayor and what harm or good will a contest do?

THE interest taken in the Corbett-Mitchell fight is not as manifest as it was some four or five weeks ago. When they can't fight in the swamps of Florida, where can the contest take place.

MR. HORNBLLOWER's appointment was not confirmed by the senate. Well, they had to do something to it, didn't they?

At that time, "bring it on, I'll fight for the public." People had almost forgotten they were in session.

THE king of Serbia and his cabinet are not on friendly terms. A serious crisis is looked for at any time. The outcome of the trouble, should it occur, is uncertain but the same form of government will doubtless be instituted in case the present monarchy is overthrown.

JOHN G. CARLISLE, secretary of the treasury, has advertised for bids for the new bonds to be issued to the amount of $50,000,000. That means $50,000,000 added to the national debt, but it is impossible that any of this issue will go out of the country. Carlisle has done more to restore confidence in the channels of trade than congress.

MAYOR HOPKINS says that when it is proven that he was elected by fraud he is willing to step down and out. Why should he not? If he is the conscientious man he claims to be he should be one of the investigators himself. Of course he knows that if fraud is found to have existed he will have to step out, whether he will or not, and why not do it willingly.

OWING to the unflinching courage and determination of Sheriff Hazen of Council Bluffs, another criminal was saved from the violence of a mob. Sheriff Hazen called upon the police, national guard and the fire department for aid and each organization responded immediately. The mob dispersed but the sheriff remained on guard. Mr. Hazen should receive a vote of thanks from all law abiding citizens.

THERE is much talk around Washington as to what action should be taken in regard to Minister Willis. Some wish to hold him responsible for all his actions since he went to Hawaii. It should not be so. If he followed the instructions of President Cleveland and secretary Gresham he is free from blame, but if he in any way varied from the instructions thus received he should be held responsible inasmuch as he acted upon his own responsibility.

It is now claimed that Secretary Carlisle is in error as to what rate of interest the new ten year bonds will pay the subscribers. Figures show that the income from them will be 3 1/4 per cent if bought at the premium at which the secretary places them on the market. Mr. Carlisle claimed that they would pay but 3 per cent as he expected most of them to sell for a higher premium than the government asks. He simply made a "rough guess" and expected the public to accept it without a murmur. Mr. Carlisle will do well to remember that the people have nothing to do now-a-days but investigate the actions of the officers at Washington.

Geo. B. Swift, ex-mayor of Chicago, has lost all his political aspirations and announces himself as not being a candidate for alderman from the eleventh ward. He is reluctant to retire from political life but says he will be unable to make a thorough canvass through the coming campaign. The voters of the eleventh ward very much to see Mr. Swift retire from the field, as they appreciate the good works he has accomplished while holding office under the municipal government.

When men like Charles B. Farwell say that there is no such thing as true friendship and that it is only a theory, it calls to our mind the names of those whom we have counted as our friends, on whom we might depend in a time of need. Mr. Farwell says that as long as a man is traveling upward along the ladder to wealth and success his friends are countless, but let him fall and he will find himself deserted. Does he look upon himself in the same light? Does he mean to infer that he knows none among all of his many acquaintances, outside of his family circle who is deserving of his (Mr. Farwell's) patronage should that acquaintance come to need?

EDITORIAL DRIFTWOOD.

Matters and things as they appear to our brothers of the craft.

What Might Have been.

Had it not been for Grover Cleveland the Stars and Stripes would to-day be floating over the islands of the Pacific.

—Inter Ocean.

It Requires Bravery.

It will soon require more bravery to be a railroad express messenger than to enlist in the regular army.—Chicago Journal.

It Has No Time to Fool.

Congress has no time to fool with Treasury matters—it is too busy shutting up factories and workshops.—Inter Ocean.

Its Sentence Pending.

The Dallas News says: "The Democratic party is on trial. It is even worse than that. It has been convicted and sentence is pending."—Inter Ocean.

Cleveland Still at It.

Cleveland seems to have killed business as dead in Hawaii as he has in the United States. He seems to glory in this sort of wrongheadedness.—Cleveland Leader.

An Interesting Theory.

A scientist has discovered that man's diseases are all due to the fact that he wears clothes. Perhaps that is why ballet girls live so long.—Kansas City Journal.

Pretty Strong Backing.

Two countries, the United States and Hawaii, back up Dole in this Cleveland-Lilleokalani intrigue, and both are against Cleveland.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Must Give a Chrono.

Pass the Wilson bill and next year the Democratic party will have to give a chrono to every Democratic voter north of Mason and Dixon's line to get the voters out.—Inter Ocean.

Advice to Colleges.

If Democrats are to be kept in power, and their policy enforced, it would pay for American colleges to make a department training up "receivers" just as it fits men for civil engineers.—Inter Ocean.

A Grover Cleveland bill.

The Wilson bill is a Grover Cleveland bill, and the House belongs to Grover. The bill will go through if it puts out every furnace fire and closes every machine shop in the land. There can hardly be a doubt about that.—Inter Ocean.

He is a Sticker.

The milling club at Jacksonville found that Governor Mitchell was a sticker and they speedily announced themselves "stuck." They, however, still proclaim that they will defy the civil authorities and bring on the fight.—Inter Ocean.

Badly Stranded.

The cruiser Corwin is reported as badly stranded over her forced speed to the Sandwich Islands and will have to be overhauled. But she was not half so badly "stranded" as was the administration that wrote her dispatches. No overhauling will ever put it in order.—Inter Ocean.

The Odds Against It.

Which is the greater, the Corbett-Mitchell aggregation, or the Government? In view of the deliberate plans of the Duval Club to defy the law and the authorities of Florida, this is a puzzling question. At present the odds seem to be against the Government.—Chicago Journal.

Must Stand by Its Guns.

"The Democratic party must stand by its guns," says an esteemed contemporary. Better advice would have been, "Stand from in front of the guns when touched off." Cleveland, Gresham, Olney, Hoke Smith, Lochren, Willis, and others are all powder-burnt and scared from neglecting just such precautions.—Inter Ocean.

Amazing Blunders.

Many of the errors and follies of the party now in power in Washington are simply amazing in their suicidal stupidity. The abandonment of the good old custom of keeping the stars and stripes flying over the Capitol is one of the most monstrous of these blunders, absolutely without excuse, and sure to offend and grieve millions of patriotic Americans.—Cleveland Leader.

PECKHAM IS THE MAN.

Cleveland names him for the vacancy in the Supreme Court Judgeship.

WASHINGTON, January 22.—President Cleveland again defied Senator David B. Hill to-day by sending to the Senate the nomination of Wheeler H. Peckham of New York, another "Anti-Snapper" to be Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court in place of Judge Horriblower, who was rejected by the Senate at the solicitation of Hill. Mr. Peckham is one of the most prominent lawyers of New York. He is an ardent supporter of President Cleveland and was one of the leading delegates in the famous "Anti-Snapper" convention.

WILL CONTEST THE VOTE.

Suit Begun in the Court against the Mayor of Chicago.

Upon eighteen distinct charges of fraud and corruption at the polls in the recent Mayoralty election, formal contest of the alleged election of John P. Hopkins as Mayor of the city of Chicago was begun in the County Court last Saturday. The outcome of this suit will be watched with interest by not only the people of Chicago, but by the people of the United States, as it will doubtless develop many new phases in our method of conducting elections, wherein it is possible to perpetrate grave frauds, almost wholly undetectable.

HOW THE WORK IS DONE.

Methods Employed by the Great Metropolitan Newspapers, of Which The Inter Ocean is the Greatest.

It is not generally known what a vast plant it requires to publish and circulate a metropolitan newspaper. The Chicago Inter Ocean has in its circulating department alone nearly one hundred men and women, not to mention the carriers who deliver the paper to all parts of the city before breakfast every morning. It may be mentioned that no kind of weather, however severe, is permitted to interfere with this delivery in any way. Of this large force, about one-half of them work through the day at ordinary office or clerical work and the other half begin late at night and work until about daylight, preparing and addressing wrappers, counting and mailing the bundles. Their work is of the most difficult nature and is done in the quickest possible manner, and yet so well is it done that it seldom happens that a single bundle or paper of its immense edition of nearly 100,000 reaches its destination on other than the right train and at the right time, unless delayed by accident. The system is wonderful and its operation almost perfect.

THREE OFFICERS RESIGN.

The Northern Pacific Affairs Become More Complicated than Ever.

Receivers are Puzzled.

New York, Jan. 19.—Owing to disagreements between the receivers of the Northern Pacific Railway and the board of directors, the latter has formally announced to the Stock Exchange that no further transfers of stock will be made. The immediate reason for this decision is understood to be the resignation of the auditor, secretary and treasurer of the company. The receivers denounce the decision of the board as arbitrary and unnecessary, and offer to place the stock books, as heretofore, at the service of the board.

In reference to this action Brayton Ives, president of the Northern Pacific Company, has addressed a letter to the receivers of the company, which reads as follows:

"The transfer of stocks and bonds was stopped, not simply because you retained possession of the stock books, stock transfer books and corporate seal, but because you forced the resignation of the secretary, treasurer and auditor of the company, who also were with the receiver in several capacities, by notifying them that they could not serve both the receivers and the company. Inasmuch as you control all the company's funds, the directors have had none with which to pay these officers and it is not strange that they decided to accept your ultimatum and remain in your employ. This action was taken without notice to the company and we found ourselves suddenly deprived, through no fault of our own, of the services of officers without whose signatures it is absolutely impossible to make transfers.

Aside from the difficulty of securing competent persons to fill these vacancies at short notice, we had no money for salaries, even if men could have been found. Therefore there seemed to be no other alternative than to apply to the court for the custody of the books and for money with which to conduct the business of the company. This has been done. Meanwhile officers of the Stock Exchange have represented to me that much trouble is likely to result from this action of yours, and I have told them that if you would assent in good faith to the appointment of the former secretary, treasurer and auditor and they agree to serve the company I will call a meeting at once of the board of directors and endeavor to have them reappointed. I now make the same statement to you and add my belief that the board will take the action indicated.

THE PASSING OF CLEVELAND.

From Mighty and Powerful to Oblivion, Brought upon Him by His Unwise Acts and Methods.

Not since the days of Andrew Johnson has the chief magistrate of the nation been subjected to such universal criticism as has Grover Cleveland during the first year of this, his second administration. The state of the country when Johnson assumed the presidential chair, was so widely different from that when Grover entered the White House that there is in reality no comparison between the administrations.

When Johnson took up the reins of government, which fate had taken from the hands of his predecessor, the country was in a state of unrest. It was at the close of one of the most devastating rebellions in modern history. The work of uniting the states again under the stars and stripes was a work which would have puzzled many of our most eminent men. The financial condition was at a very low ebb. The country was in debt. Congress was working with might and main on a hundred different issues. Is it a wonder that Johnson was perplexed?

In March 1893, when Cleveland entered upon his second term, what was the prospect? Did any president ever go to the White House under more favorable circumstances? Look which way he might only industry and prosperity could be seen. People greeted him with enthusiasm as he passed. They were satisfied with what they already had but this great man had promised them even more. He had told them they were slaves. His party through him had told them this so often that they had come to believe it was so, and those who had preached this blessed traditional creed had come to believe it also. Many of them have lived to change their minds. It had been told that "times" were as hard as they could be and the people began to think so. "The government has been rolling along in this old rut, they said, long enough, let's make a new track." It can't do any hurt. But this cry soon went for naught, for no sooner did Grover Cleveland enter the capital than distrust of

THE PASSING OF CLEVELAND.

From Mighty and Powerful to Oblivion, Brought upon Him by His Unwise Acts and Methods.

Not since the days of Andrew Johnson has the chief magistrate of the nation been subjected to such universal criticism as has Grover Cleveland during the first year of this, his second administration. The state of the country when Johnson assumed the presidential chair, was so widely different from that when Grover entered the White House that there is in reality no comparison between the administrations.

When Johnson took up the reins of government, which fate had taken from the hands of his predecessor, the country was in a state of unrest. It was at the close of one of the most devastating rebellions in modern history. The work of uniting the states again under the stars and stripes was a work which would have puzzled many of our most eminent men. The financial condition was at a very low ebb. The country was in debt. Congress was working with might and main on a hundred different issues. Is it a wonder that Johnson was perplexed?

In March 1893, when Cleveland entered upon his second term, what was the prospect? Did any president ever go to the White House under more favorable circumstances? Look which way he might only industry and prosperity could be seen. People greeted him with enthusiasm as he passed. They were satisfied with what they already had but this great man had promised them even more. He had told them they were slaves. His party through him had told them this so often that they had come to believe it was so, and those who had preached this blessed traditional creed had come to believe it also. Many of them have lived to change their minds. It had been told that "times" were as hard as they could be and the people began to think so. "The government has been rolling along in this old rut, they said, long enough, let's make a new track." It can't do any hurt. But this cry soon went for naught, for no sooner did Grover Cleveland enter the capital than distrust of everything and everyone began slowly but surely to settle down over the whole country. What was the first move? Hoke Smith was made secretary of the interior and Walter Q. Gresham, a man of brains, but one who had been on the other side of the fence for many years past, was made secretary of state. Appointing such a man to the highest office under the government only thickened the dark cloud of distrust. Why not choose some one who has always advocated the principles of the party? So it continued. Members of his own party began to question the justice and constitutionality of some of his acts. Can we say that he is altogether to blame for the over confidence with which he estimates his own abilities? Did he have more confidence in himself than the people had in him at the outset? Evidently he did. All the appointments made by him were made generally without regard to advice and criticisms, which he could not avoid being aware of.

The administration's mistakes are as much to be blamed against the party in power as they are toward their now fallen idol, Grover Cleveland.

Some men are wont to make themselves notorious. Come what will they will bring themselves into public notice, either by doing good deeds or by doing just the reverse. In this day and age of the world it takes several good acts of generosity and benevolence toward the public good to make a noted man, but it only takes a few of such acts as those committed by our president to place a man's name in golden letters of light on the very top of the wall of fame, but after it will be written in letters quite as prominent, "bungler." It will be read in years to come with wonder and regret.

YOU CAN'T GET THE EARTH, BUT YOU CAN GET A PART OF IT BY ADVERTISING IN THE ANTIOCH NEWS.

1875. EIGHTEEN YEARS YOU HAVE KNOWN 1893.

THE OLD BANKING FIRM OF

DAN HEAD & COMPANY,

Kenosha, Wisconsin.

It is with pride and pleasure that we are still

IN THE BANKING BUSINESS

Willing to forgive and forget the money that "you" took out of this that and the other Bank. Bring it in and deposit it in.

DAN HEAD & COMPANY'S BANK, and if we can see our way clear we may see proper to date your certificates back on all money withdrawn from this bank.

We are paying 3 per cent per annum on all money remaining 6 months. 4 per cent per annum on money remaining 2 years. Interest however is paid every six months.

Good Real-estate Mortgages netting 6 per cent per annum

For sale at all times in sums to suit all persons.

We have for sale good City 5 per cent Bonds. Good Mfg 6 per cent Bonds. Now unload that old Stocking, remove all that money you have under that Carpet, and either send or bring in this money that you withdrew from the Banks, and deposit it in D. H. & Co.'s Bank. In doing this we can loan to the Manufacturing Firms and this will allow them to start up and give work to thousands. In keeping this money in your homes you are bidding for Robbery and Murder. You can't tell what night you will be called upon to give up your money, and maybe your life. Thousands and thousands of good, honest men and women are Starving and you are to blame.

DELAY NOT

But open a Bank acct. with Dan Head & Co.

A. P. AMES,

—DEALER IN—

HARDWARE, TIN WARE,

BARB WIRE AND BUILDERS SUPPLIES,

Paints, Oils, Brushes, Calcimine, etc. New Process Gasoline stoves.

FARM MACHINERY, PLOWS, BUGGIES, CARTS.

WIND MILLS, HARNESS, PUMPS ETC.

—Milk Cans Our Specialty—

ANTIOCH, ILL.

ANY THING NOT IN STOCK PROMPTLY ORDERED.

No trouble to show goods, I am here to sell and all I ask is an opportunity to show my machinery and make prices. Call and see me.

Ben Hamlin,

Wagon and Carriage Repairing,

Tank and Boat Building.

I am prepared to attend to all work in the above line at reasonable prices.

Lake Villa, Ill.

RIPAN'S

TABULES

REGULATE THE STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS AND PURIFY THE BLOOD.

RIPAN'S TABULES are the best Medicine known for Indigestion, Biliousness, Headache, Constipation, Dyspepsia, Chronic Liver Troubles, Diarrhea, Head Complaints, Brucella, Offensive Breath, and all disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Ripans Tabules contain nothing injurious to the most delicate constitution. Are pleasant to take, safe, effective, and give immediate relief. Price—Box (6 vials), 75 cents; Packages (12 boxes), $1.00. May be ordered through nearest druggist, or by mail. Sample free by mail. Address THE RIPAN'S CHEMICAL CO., 10 SPRING STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

OLD ELK

BOURBON & PURE RYE

Shipped pure and unadulterated direct from the distillery. Pronounced a pure and wholesome tonic-stimulant by the medical fraternity everywhere. Gives life, strength and happiness to the weak, sick, aged and infirm.

If you cannot procure it of your druggist or liquor dealer, upon receipt of $1.00 we will express prepaid to any address a full quart sample bottle of Old Elk Rye or Bourbon.

STOLL, VANNATTA & CO., DISTILLERS,

Lexington, Ky.

J. H. S. LEE,

SURVEYOR,

AND CIVIL ENGINEER.

OFFICE IN NEW BANK BUILDING,

Box 811, Waukegan, Ills.

STEEL WEB PICKET FENCE

10 to 12 inches high, pickets 2 1/2 and 3 inches apart. Best yard and lawn fence made. Sold by the Antioch Fence Co., DE KALB, ILL.

—FOR SALE BY—

A. P. Ames, Antioch, Ill.

—FOR SALE BY—

Rowling & Edwards,

DEALERS IN GENERAL

MERCHANDISE,

Lake Villa, Ills.

Schad & Thom,

Dealers in

STOVES, SHEET IRON,

Tin & Copper-Ware,

Pumps, Pipes, & Fittings

We make a Specialty of MILK CANS.

We are at all times prepared to furnish anything in the line of tinware including

Eave-troughs and Gutters

The Shop is in charge of H. B. Schild, who is a practical tinner and prepared to do

GENERAL REPAIR WORK

PROMPTLY AND AT LOWEST RATES.

Call in and inspect our stock, and, when you need anything, our line, remember we are here to sell, we will not be undersold.

SHOP 307 W. DEVOY,

Lake Villa, Illinois.

WHY?

Taste of "Old Ruby Port Wine" and you will know why we call it "Royal." A glass held to the light will show why we call it "Royal." $500 reward for any bottle of this wine found under five years old, or in any way adulterated. It is grand in flavor and connoisseurs, or where a strengthening cordial is required, recommend by druggists and physicians.

Before you get "Royal Ruby," don't let any impostor on you with something "as good." Sold only in bottles; price, one $1, pints 60 cts. Bottled by Royal Ruby Co. Sold by Druggists everywhere.

Waukegan Department.

IDA M. FENKELL, Manager,
817 GRAND AVENUE,
WAUKEGAN, ILLINOIS.

Miss Fenkell is authorized to receive subscriptions, orders for advertising, or Job Printing, also to collect and receipt for same, until otherwise notified. J. J. BURKE, Pub.

COUNTY SEAT NEWS.

The Western Union Telegraph office has been newly furnished.

Patrick Cunningham, well known in this city, is quite low, having been ill for a long time.

The Armenian Christmas was celebrated Thursday. Services were held in the Temperance Temple in the morning.

Hotel Washburn has been leased by G. Schermerhorn, who will conduct it as a first class boarding house. He has had a large experience in the business.

A memorial hall has been suggested by the leaders to take the place of a monument for the soldiers. There is about $5,000 in the memorial fund and if the city would assist a fine hall could be erected to be used by the G. A. R. and perhaps by the city too.

The Deanes, of Ft. Sheridan, have fines and costs to pay amounting to between $900 and $400, for selling liquor without license, for selling Sunday and for keeping a public nuisance. There is also a jail sentence of ten days. The judge of the county court ordered that the place be closed and remain closed.

Mrs. Bridget Kelly was suffocated by coal gas Monday night, Jan. 15. Mrs. Kelly's son and his wife and a boy staying in the house were all overcome by it but recovered. Mrs. Kelly was beyond help when she was found. She was seventy years of age. She was the mother of Frank Kelly, who is well known here.

Mrs. Eugene Howard recently died at her home in Nebraska from the effects of the lagrippe. Mrs. Howard was the youngest daughter of the late Philip Blanchard and married this young man several years ago. She was out of health for some time, being unable to attend the funeral of her father, held in this city last fall. She had many friends here.

The case of the people vs Gold-berg, of Highland Park, was tried in Justice Shatswell's court Friday, consuming the whole day. The charge was allowing cattle to run at large on the property of Mr. Moses. There were a number of witnesses. Attorney Heydecker appeared for the state and Mr. Baum for the defendant. The jury went out at six and returned in half an hour with a verdict of guilty. The fine was fixed at $3.00 and costs, amounting to nearly $100.

The man who tried to wreck the 8:40 train on the Northwestern railroad, at Benton Friday night, January 12, was caught in Chicago and placed in jail in this city Tuesday. His name is Charles Mork. He is a Swede and lived in Chicago. The morning after the attempt he was at the Benton station and talked with the agent. He said he was going to Chicago and the agent was able to give a description of him leading to his arrest. When brought to Waukegan he was not disposed to reveal anything, but after much questioning he confessed to the attempt and that he was alone, although he said another man was with him a short time before. He said he had no motive in doing so, but that he piled a large railway tie, the trunk of a tree and several smaller pieces of wood on the track. These timbers are now in the court house. He must have intended train wrecking and plunder. At the hearing Thursday, when asked why he did it he said he had been drinking but in his story it was not shown that he had drunk much. He was bound over in bonds of $5,000. The night of the deed the weather was clear and the engineer saw the obstructions and stopped his train in time to save the passengers.

The Electric Railway franchise was not presented at the council meeting Monday night. The company asking for it not being quite ready.

A reception to Rev. S. W. Childster, the new pastor of the Presbyterian church, was given at the residence of Judge Clark Friday evening. There were nearly three hundred present.

The fire and ten cent store recently located on Washington street, was the scene of a fire Saturday night. A hanging lamp fell to the floor and ignited what was near it, but the fire department was called and it was soon something of the past, our citizens not paying much attention to so small a fire, being used to larger ones. But for the timely aid of the fire department this might have been something to remember for some time.

The proposition to build a four track electric railway from Chicago to Milwaukee is attracting considerable attention and an effort is being made to raise funds to build five miles of this road at this point as an experiment. Anyone wishing to invest in the stock of the company can learn particulars from E. D. Besley or Nelson Steel. E. D. Besley has been selected as committee man from Waukegan, to attend to the interests in this locality.

NEIGHBORING NOTES.

Pen Pictures of Passing Events Prepared by Our Correspondents.

To Our Correspondents.

As we go to press Wednesday noon of each week, it is necessary that all communications should reach this office not later than Tuesday evening.

Yours Respectfully,
J. J. BURKE.

Lake Villa.

Remember the school entertainment.

Take in the Concert at Gray's Lake, this Friday evening.

J. H. Hughes made a business trip to Chicago Monday.

Mrs. W. Kerr, Mrs. Isaac Webster and Mrs. Mary Allen spent Friday in Antioch.

Only ten cents to attend the entertainment at the church Friday evening February 2nd.

Nearly all the children and many of the grown people have been "bracciminted," as one small boy terms it.

Services Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday School at 12, m. Epworth League meeting at 6:45 p. m.

Don't forget the school entertainment Friday evening February 2nd 1894, and come early as a large attendance is expected.

The ladies of the Sand Lake Cemetery Association will meet with Mrs. Ellen Smith Thursday afternoon February 1st. NETTIE WRIGHT, Secretary.

Rev. S. H. Wirsching was quite sick Sunday, and was unable to be at Lake Villa to preach. He was also compelled to remain out of school the first part of the week.

At the Epworth League business meeting last Friday evening the following officers were elected for the ensuing year. President W. J. Darby, First Vice-President, Miss Sherwood. Second Vice-President Ethel M. Hughes. Secretary and Treasurer, S. W. Bain.

The pupils of the Lake Villa school under the direction of their teacher, Miss Tina Welch, will give an entertainment in the church Friday evening February 2nd. The program will consist of recitations, dialogues, music etc. Just come and see what the future men and women can do in this line. Now you know that a school entertainment is always better than a concert or an opera. These energetic young people have prepared an excellent program, and nothing will please and encourage them more than to have such a crowd that standing room will be at a premium. Remember the time and place. Admission ten cents.

The oyster supper at Mr. Manzer's last Monday night showed that the Modern Woodmen of Lake Villa were adepts in the art of entertaining. The house was thronged until a late hour and places at the banquet table were in constant demand. A bountiful repast was served and every one had a gay time. One hundred and nineteen tickets were sold. All unite in the shout, "Hurrah for the Lake Villa Woodmen."

The hearts of the Lake Villa people were made sad Sunday evening by the announcement of the death of Little George Welton. He was taken sick Friday night with membranous croup, and although medical aid was summoned and every thing was done to relieve him that was possible, he died at about half past five Sunday afternoon. He was a bright, healthy, active child and his illness was so brief that few had heard of it, and his death was a shock to nearly everyone. The funeral was from the house Tuesday afternoon. The interment took place at the Lake Villa Cemetery. The most heart-felt sympathies are extended to the sorrowing relatives from all.

CAMP LAKE, WIS.

Mrs. Noah Yaw is still on the sick list.

Mrs. J. H. McVey is reported as being quite sick.

The two children of Gus Barr are quite sick with diphtheria.

The Lincoln Ice Company have gone to McFarland to harvest ice. The weather was too uncertain here.

Miss Lizzie Bishop has returned to Silver Springs after spending several weeks with her sister and friends here.

John Roney is visiting friends in Chicago. Mr. Roney says he expects to return with Mrs. Roney. Good for you John.

Mr. Frank Wicks and Miss Katie Halm were married at Munster last Thursday morning. The News extends congratulations.

Miss Maude Gallagher is visiting friends and relatives here. Miss Maude has grown to be quite a favorite in Camp Lake society.

About thirty friends "swooped down" on Mr. Rathier Friday evening much to his pleasure and surprise. It did not take him long to realize what had happened and also what was about to take place. All who were present enjoyed the evening. Dancing was in order and the "winter night began to wane" before the guests departed for their homes.

FOX LAKE.

Attend the Concert at Grays Lake.

The farmers are all very busy getting their supply of wood for summer.

On account of bad roads the young folks could not take in the entertainment at Antioch Monday night last.

The Fox Lake Cemetery Association will hold its annual meeting at the residence of Mrs. H. J. Nelson, on February 1st, 1894. All members should be present to act on all business that may come before said meeting.

Joe hasn't gone west yet for his health but perhaps he may go a little ways south.

The feed mill runs every Thursday and Robert is there to welcome all, if it is Democratic times.

The factory is progressing under the skillful management of Mr. Kirwin. He makes the best of butter and gets the highest prices.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

J. L. Harden & Sons shipped a car of stock Tuesday.

Children's rubbers at 25 cents per pair at C. O. Foltz & Co.'s.

Try that 26 pounds brown sugar for $1.00 at C. O. Foltz & Co.'s.

Will Gray was in Chicago Tuesday. Will had an interesting story to relate on his return.

Instruction in Shorthand by mail or in classes. Terms reasonable. For particulars address: Frank Norton, Antioch, Ills.

We have just received a lot of rubber goods and the prices are the lowest ever heard of. Call and get what you need before they are gone. C. O. Foltz & Co.

S. M. Spafford will close the musical convention at Gray's Lake Friday, (to-morrow) evening with a grand concert. The leading talent of Lake County will take part in the program. Miss Davis, Libertyville's famous soprano, has been engaged to sing. No one can afford to miss this, the musical event of the season.

Those who wish to attend the concert at Gray's Lake Friday, (to-morrow) evening, will likely be able to return on the midnight train, as Mr. Ziegler is making arrangements to have the train stop at Gray's Lake. He will know by Friday morning whether the company will consent to have a stop made at Gray's Lake or not.

IN LUMBER INTEREST.

Conventions of Dealers at Kansas City and Columbus, Ohio.

KANSAS CITY, January 23.—More than ordinary interest attaches to the annual meeting of the Missouri and Kansas Association of Retail Lumber Dealers, which convenes here to-day and will continue in session until Friday. The meeting is always an event in retail lumber trade circles of the south-west and this year promises to be more so than usual.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, January 23.—It is expected that 300 members will attend the annual convention of the Lumber Dealers' Association of Ohio, which convenes in this city to-day. Important business is to be transacted and it is expected the convention will adopt resolutions protesting against placing lumber on the free list, as proposed by the Wilson bill.

Field Columbian Museum Officers.

Edward E. Ayer was elected President of the Field Columbian Museum at a meeting at the Union League Club yesterday afternoon; Martin A. Ryerson, First Vice President; Norman B. Ream, Second Vice President; Ralph Metcalf, Secretary and Byron L. Smith, Treasurer. Several of the old Trustees resigned and the board was reorganized as follows: Edward E. Ayer, George E. Adams, M. A. Ryerson, Arthur B. Jones, Watson Blair, George R. Davis, Norman Williams, Cyrus H. McCormick, H. W. Jackson, George Manierre, W. J. Chalmers, Edwin Walker, Norman B. Ream, Owen F. Aldis and H. N. Higginbotham. The question of changing the corporate name to the Field Columbian Museum was postponed.

"CIVIL AND RELIGIOUS LIBERTY"

A LECTURE, BY REV. M. A. BRUTON,

AT THE WILTON OPERA HOUSE,
FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 26.,
TO CLOSE WITH A SOCIAL DANCE.

Admission to Lecture 25c.

Including dance $1.00.

Supper extra.

MUSIC BY WILSON'S ORCHESTRA.

Everybody Come.

Proceeds for benefit of Bristol Catholic Church.

THE SHERRY LUMBER YARD

Antioch, and Lake Villa, Ill.

Lumber, Lime, Coal, Salt, Cement,
... Brick and Tile. ...

We keep a well-selected stock of the above materials and solicit your patronage for the same.

Being over-stocked in certain lines we will make special price on all bills for immediate delivery.

HENRY SHERRY, Proprietor.

CHAS. HARBAUGH, Manager.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

Miscellaneous Wants.

Advertisements under this head, 5 cents per line each insertion. Ordinarily, 7 words make a line.

Steam Launch For Sale, 33 feet long 8 feet wide, double shell, made of steel, 18 horse power engine, draws 3 feet of water and will carry 20 people with comfort, with a speed of 12 miles per hour. Will sell cheap. Boat can be seen at Camp Lake, Wis. Apply to L. B. LAMM. 7w

Lost—Somewhere in the village on Wednesday of last week, a gold watch chain. Finder will please leave at the News office and oblige the owner.

TO RENT—A building in a good locality, suitable for a store and a meat market with suite of living rooms attached. Enquire at this office.

For Sale, Lake Front.

Suitable for a summer resort hotel or a colony of lake families. The finest in Lake County. Heavily timbered, fine bank, gravel lake bottom and shore, 2 miles from Antioch depot, on long time and very low price. Enquire at News office.

House and Lot For Sale.

For SALE—A nine room house, built about four years, with good cellar, cistern and out buildings, in a good location in Antioch village. J. J. BURKE, Real-estate and Loans, Antioch, Ills.

Lake Property for Sale.

For SALE: A choice tract of two acres, heavily timbered. Within two miles of depot. Over 300 feet of fine lake front, good shore, suitable for hotel or club house. Price reasonable. Address THE NEWS, Antioch, Ills.

Farm For Sale.

FOR SALE: A Farm of 40 acres in the town of Salem, between Antioch and Wilmet. $255 will buy it. A bargain for some one. For particulars call on or address, J. J. BURKE, Real-estate and Loans, Antioch, Ills.

For Sale.

A fine location on Fox River for summer residence. 30 acres for sale low on easy terms, 5 miles from a depot. Enquire at News office.

For Sale.

Real estate mortgages running for a term of years. No expense to purchaser for assignments. J. J. BURKE, Real-estate and Loans.

Farm For Sale.

FOR SALE:—A good improved farm of 160 acres. Good water and good buildings. Easy terms. Address C. F. LING, Bigelow, Minnesota. 3w

PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors and photographs of new inventions, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

WE ARE ALWAYS READY

to blow our own horn, and would advise others to do the same. When you are ready to do the blowing you will find us ready

TO DO THE
... PRINTING
IN FIRST-CLASS STYLE AND FAIR PRICES.

Chas. P. Westerfield,
Ex Co. SURVEYOR
AND CIVIL ENGINEER.
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE,
418 North West Street,
WAUKEGAN, ILLINOIS.
CAREFUL WORK GUARANTEED.

Ask your Dealer for
A. B.
STOVE POLISH.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.
The Oldest and Best Liquid Polish.
AYLING BROS.,
Sole Mfrs and Patentees,
828 Milwaukee Ave. CHICAGO, ILL.

Village Lots For Sale,
Long Time, Monthly Payments.
R. JOHNNOTT,
ANTIOCH, ILLINOIS.

Special Service, Mid-
Winter Fair.

Commencing October 23d, the Great Rock Island Route inaugurated a Daily Through Tourist Car Line between Chicago and Los Angeles, via the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific to Kansas City and Ft. Worth, and thence by the Texas Pacific to El Paso and Southern Pacific to Los Angeles.

BETTER YET.

Arrangement has been concluded to run this car on no agency, and southern route, themselves in winter season. Remember this car leaves Chicago daily at 6 p. m., by the Great Rock Island Route.

The above mentioned Tourist Line is in addition to the double weekly service from Chicago, Tuesdays and Thursdays via Rock Island Route, Denver & Rio Grande and Southern Pacific through Pueblo, Salt Lake, Ogden and San Francisco to Los Angeles.

Low rates and excellent service, coupled with the fast time made by passengers on these Tourist Cars, make them as they deserve, very popular.

Any Coupon Ticket agent can give facts as to rates, and remember second class tickets are accepted on these cars. Address for full particulars, JNO. SEBASTIAN G. T. A. C. H. & T. Ry., Chicago.

J. B. Story & Son,
SUCCESSORS TO
MONTGOMERY & STORY,

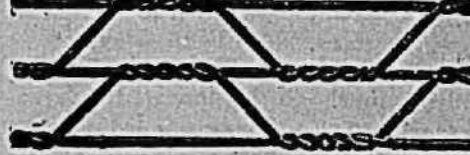

ICE CREAM PARLOR
AND DEALER IN

GROCERIES,
TOBACCO & CIGARS.

Summer Drinks,
FRUITS & VEGETABLES

IN THEIR SEASON.
J. B. STORY & SON,
ANTIOCH, ILLINOIS

STEEL WIRE FENCE BOARD

AND

STEEL WEB PICKET FENCE.

Manufactured Only by

DE KALB FENCE CO., - De Kalb, Ill.

-FOR SALE BY-

A. P. Ames, Antioch, Ill.

BE RELIEVED

TRIAL FREE.

Relief For those who are sufferers from biliousness, indigestion, nervous debility, and all forms of nervousness, permanently cured in from 1 to 2 months. Many testimonials from victims who have been restored to health, vitality and happiness. Send 12 cents postage for free trial. $1.00 per package or 6 for $5.00 sent securely sealed from observation. Address THE CLARKE MEDICINE CO., 843 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

The Antioch News

ANTIOCH, ILLINOIS.

Sheriff J. P. Booth and his predecessor, E. C. Seymour, of San Bernardino, Cal., were indicted for charging double fees.

A jury at Salem, Ill., awarded William Henry Sanders $500 in his suit for damages against the Illinois Central railroad company.

Eight more patients suffering with typhoid fever at Bermuda have been transferred to the hospital from H. M. S. Canada. Eleven of its crew are sick with the fever at Barbadoes and twenty at Bermuda.

H. M. Leonard, manager of the wrecked Santa Clara bank in San Jose, Cal., is charged with embezzling $9,000.

Field Bros., charged with illegal banking at Cedar Falls, Iowa, have been granted a change of venue to Independence.

James McCane shot and killed John F. Morris in Houston, Texas.

American Protective Tariff league elected Cornelius N. Bliss president.

Passengers on the smallpox infested steamer Sequanore were allowed to land at Vera Cruz, Mex.

Cruiser Olympia made 21.00 knots an hour and earned $300,000 in premiums for its builder.

Joseph F. Pritchard, convicted of bigamy at Mascoutah, Ill., and sentenced to one year in the penitentiary, has been granted a new trial by the Supreme court.

F. D. Wamaker, claiming to be a nephew of John Wamaker, was arrested in Fostoria, Ohio, on a charge of passing a fraudulent draft.

The grand jury at Valparaiso, Ind., has returned twenty-nine indictments, some of which it is thought will cause a sensation. The cost to the county is $300.

The body of Fred White, a well known Seymour, Ind., citizen, aged 74 years, was found in the woods a half mile from his home. Paralysis, it is supposed, caused death.

Word has been received from the Colgate relief party, which was at Hamilton's cabin, on the middle fork of the Clearwater, 120 miles from Kenai, Alaska, that the party still is not confirmed by the Colgate alive.

Not confirmed by the Colgate alive. The United States court at St. Paul, Minn., has ordered the Colgate relief party to pay $1,345 of postoffice funds, which were deposited in the Cheyenne National bank at the time that institution suspended. It was shown that Mr. Masl used the money in payment of his general expenses.

Flesh, Frugh & Co.'s clothing store at Piqua, Ohio, was robbed of goods valued at $900.

Attorney-General Olney has received the resignation of United States Marshal Knott of the northern district of Iowa.

A Citizens' league has been organized at Sioux City, Iowa, to help purify the local politics.

Henry Hest was hanged at Gettysburg, Pa., for the murder of Emanuel Moma nearly a year ago.

Bethel Cole shot and killed George Creamer in Carbondale, Ala. Cole found his wife with Creamer in a hotel.

At her home in Burton, Mo., Lillie Tribble, aged 18, daughter of William Tribble, committed suicide by shooting.

John Smith, an engineer, was instantly killed by the explosion of the boiler in Rader's sawmill at Lawrenceville, Ill.

Robert Foster killed Clay Hudson and a negro workman of Hudson's at Lafayette, Ala. A lawsuit was the cause of the murder.

The United States District court at Madison, Wis., returned a verdict of $400 for Knute Anderson against M. C. and John Burke.

The State Lumbermen's association of Arkansas at a meeting in Little Rock memorialized congress to retain the duty on lumber.

James Kelley and William Cameron of Chicago have been arrested at Lebanon, Ind., charged with attempting to hold up S. S. Heath, a grain dealer.

Henry Singleton and Horace Smith, negroes, have been convicted of murder at Jackson, Miss., and will be sentenced to be hanged. Both crimes were committed while the men were life convicts.

Charles Flanders, 15 years old, was run over and killed by a train at Moulton, Ill.

Edward McFall, 17 years old, had both eyes shot out by his 9-year-old brother in an accident while hunting at Newman, Ill.

Lorrin A. Thurston, Hawaiian minister to the United States, is en route from San Francisco to Washington.

West Harris, colored, was sentenced at Mascoutah, Ill., to ninety-nine years in the penitentiary for killing Samuel Chase at East St. Louis.

D. Arrue, a justice of the peace, notary public, and life insurance agent at Farmerville, La., was found in the yard of his house with his skull crushed.

Forty-six thousand dollars has been raised for the relief of the unemployed in San Francisco. Two thousand men have been put to work in Golden Gate park.

Anderson Buckle, a farmer, accidentally shot himself at Bloomington,

S. H. Hart and Frank Dinsmore, president and cashier of the defunct Buckley bank of the State of Washington, have been held to the United States Circuit court at Baltimore in $5,000 bail. The case will now go to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Richmond, Va.

Thomas Bennett was sentenced at Mascoutah, Ill., to six years in the penitentiary for stealing six cents and two cigars from a store.

Mrs. John Lyle, old resident of Parsons, Kan., committed suicide on account of jealousy.

Thomas Quinnan was indicted at Mexico, Mo., for killing Gottlieb Klopstein of Chicago.

The McCook Ancient Order of United Workmen temple, costing $30,000, was dedicated at McCook, Neb.

George Keipkee of North Dakota was fatally stabbed by an unknown man at the Union depot at Deatur, Ill.

A. R. West has resigned as city marshal at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and sued the Republican, which has been attacking him, for $20,000 damages.

TO FORM A REPUBLIC

New Advice Received As to the Provisional Government.

HONOLULU, Jan. 22.—There is no important change in public affairs. It is privately learned that a new constitution is all ready to be promulgated at the proper time. Chinese laborers are to be imported until Japan is ready to continue the supply on satisfactory terms. It seems to be definitely ascertained that for several weeks past and prior to Thurston's visit the government has been working out a form of constitution for an independent Hawaiian republic, which is now substantially settled upon. Its form is like those of the states of the Union, with President and Vice-President and upper and lower houses of the legislature. For voters for the lower house the chief qualification is ability to read and write the English language, which will exclude most of the Japanese. In this house the native and half-white vote will greatly predominate. Certain special powers will be conferred upon the executive and upper house, acting in concert, which will enable them, when well agreed, to prevent the obstruction of necessary legislation by the lower house. Under this constitution the native element will possess all share in legislation which it has ever possessed, while royal and executive power will practically be transferred to the control of the more intelligent and capable white population.

The planters have asked the government for permission to introduce a limited number of Chinese laborers. The council voted to grant their request. During 1894 and 1895 about 9,000 labor contracts will expire and their places need to be filled.

PLANS FOR DEFENSE

Coughlin's Lawyers Preparing to Present Their Case.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Counsel for the state in the Coughlin trial are resting. The state is now awaiting what developments the presentation of the defense's side of the case may bring. The attorneys for the defense are busy preparing for the opening of their case on Monday. It is not probable that any speech will be made by either Mr. Donahoe or Judge Wing setting forth what they expect to prove or disprove. They will begin at once the presentation of evidence, and it has not yet been decided what witnesses will be first put on the stand. That the defense will make a most bitter attack on the witnesses for the state is expected, but the attorneys for the prosecution are confident the testimony is unimpeachable. The general feeling here is that the jury will disagree.

STEVENS TO TESTIFY TO-DAY

The Investigating Committee Likely to Hear Important Matters.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Ex-Minister Stevens will probably appear before the senate subcommittee to-day. The principal witness before the senate committee yesterday was Prof. William B. Olson of Worcester, Mass. He described in detail the condition of the islands, the causes of the revolution, and the scenes and incidents which occurred at that time. With special reference to the landing of troops, Prof. Olson said he did not think they had the slightest influence, one way or the other, on the revolution. He did not think the native population could maintain a government by themselves, as but few among them were equipped for such duties. If left to themselves the witness believed this people would either go back to barbarism or have an absolute government.

Reception to John H. Gear

DUNELINGTON, Iowa, Jan. 19.—Senator-elect John H. Gear was given a brilliant reception by the citizens of Burlington last night. In response to the address of welcome the ex-governor made an eloquent speech. Heartily applause punctuated his address, and for two hours a stream of friends from Burlington and neighboring towns pressed his hand and spoke words of cheer and congratulation. The senator-elect left for Chicago at night en route to Washington.

Uncle Sam After The Sugar Trust

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 22.—Argument was begun yesterday in the proceedings brought by the government to have set aside as illegal the merging of the Philadelphia sugar refineries into the sugar trust. The government claims the Sherman anti-trust law has been violated and further contends that the American Sugar Refining company is a monopoly and that the contracts made with the Philadelphia refineries were in aid of a monopoly. The answer of the trust is that it is not a monopoly and that the Sherman act is unconstitutional.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 19.

House

After the disposal of some routine business, the house at 11:20 o'clock yesterday went into committee of the whole on the Wilson bill. Mr. Hare (dem.) of Ohio addressed the committee on the wool question. He stated that under a high tariff the price of wool had been steadily decreasing. He announced himself as an advocate of a tariff for revenue only.

Mr. Grosvenor (rep.) of Ohio asked what reason there could be for the throwing away the income which might be derived from the 300,000,000 pounds of wool which came into the country every year.

In answer to a question from Mr. Hunter (dem.) of Illinois as to the cause of the fall in the price of wool in recent years, he said that the price of Ohio and Australian wool had fallen in London in the same ratio as in this country. If America can not produce within 300,000,000 pounds of wool necessary for the manufacturers in this country, why not impose a revenue tariff on that wool?

"We need the money," continued Mr. Grosvenor. "The democrats come here and try to cut down the revenue by $75,000,000, while the secretary of the treasury is endeavoring to sell bonds at 5 per cent in order to save the treasury from bankruptcy."

Mr. Davis (pop., Kas.) took the ground that the country was not prosperous under the high protective tariff and contended for free wool.

Mr. Cannon (rep., Ill.) was granted fifteen minutes to speak on the tariff question. His speech was an arraignment of the entire policy of the democratic party. He was interrupted frequently by Mr. Simpson (pop., Kan.) and others. When Mr. Cannon took his seat he was vociferously applauded by his republican colleagues.

Mr. Outhwaite (dem., Ohio) said that free trade did not operate to lower wages, as was shown by the fact that wages in England had steadily increased since the adoption of the free trade policy.

Mr. Stone (rep., Pa.) was against the measure.

Then came Mr. Filburn's arrangement of the secretary of the treasury for attempting to sell bonds.

Mr. Johnson (rep., Ind.) attacked the income tax feature of the tariff bill.

Mr. Wilson (rep., Ohio) expressed himself as being in favor of protection to the woolgrowers of Ohio, even though Texas woolgrowers might petition in favor of free wool.

Mr. Hall (dem., Mo.) and Mr. Northway (rep., Ohio) spoke for and against the bill, and then Mr. Hlack (dem., Ill.) replied to the attacks made on him some time ago by Mr. Hopkins (rep., Ill.) on account of his speech on the Wilson bill.

Mr. Sickles (dem., N. Y.) defended the purpose of the secretary of the treasury to issue bonds.

Mr. Springer (dem., Ill.) spoke briefly in favor of free wool, and in the course of his remarks there was a question of accuracy raised by Mr. Grosvenor (rep., Ohio). A rather personal debate between the two gentlemen was the result.

Mr. Pendleton (dem., W. Va.) and Mr. Crain (dem., Texas) spoke in favor of the Wilson bill, and Mr. Lord (rep., Cal.) in opposition. Mr. Dingley (rep., Maine) in an earnest speech defended the amendment proposed by Mr. Burrows.

Mr. Pearson (dem., Ohio) and Chairman Wilson spoke against the proposed amendment, and Messrs. Thomas (Mich.) Hiles (Penn.) and Burrows (Mich.) closed the debate for the republicans.

The vote was immediately taken by tellers, resulting in the defeat of the amendment by a strict party vote—yeas, 77; nays, 151.

After the disposition of the wool question Mr. Johnson (dem., Ohio), who is a large manufacturer of steel rails, introduced an amendment putting steel rails on the free list. An interesting and acrimonious discussion followed in which Mr. Dalzell (rep., Pa.) accused Mr. Johnson of making false statements in the house recently and of altering the Congressional Record. Mr. Dalzell will continue his remarks to-day, after which Mr. Johnson will reply to the allegations.

At the night sessions McKelighan (ind., Neb.) wanted free trade, pure and simple. He was followed by Sibley (dem., Pa.), who ridiculed the pretensions of the farmers of the Wilson bill, and severely criticized the President and secretary for issuing bonds.

Mr. De Forest (dem., Conn.) in favor of the bill, and Mr. Russell (rep., Conn.) against it, concluded the debate for the night.

Senate

In the absence of Vice President Stevenson the president pro tem, Senator Harris (dem.) of Tennessee again presided over the senate yesterday.

Senator Peffer (pop.) of Kansas introduced a resolution reciting the recent letter of the secretary of the treasury, calling for bids for bonds, and declaring that the secretary of the treasury has no authority to issue bonds for any other purpose than stated in the resumption act, and that in the opinion of this body the secretary of the treasury has no legal authority for issuing and selling bonds as proposed.

A somewhat similar resolution was offered by Senator Allen, and also laid over.

The "unfinished business"—the house bill to repeal the federal election laws—was taken up and Mr. Vest (dem., Mo.) addressed the senate in support of the bill. At the close of Mr. Vest's speech the bill was laid aside, the senate proceeded to the consideration of executive business, and at 3:15 p. m. adjourned till Monday next.

FRIDAY, JAN. 19.

House

There was a breezy hour in the house. It began when Dalzell, the Pennsylvania protectionist, continued his attack on Mr. Johnson, the Ohio free trader. Mr. Dalzell's speech was purely personal, and was answered by Mr. Johnson in the same strain.

Chairman Wilson opposed Johnson's amendment to put rails on the free list and the amendment was lost—70 yeas to 100 nays.

Mr. Henderson (rep., Iowa) offered an amendment to the agricultural schedule of the Wilson bill the corresponding schedule of the McKinley law. Mr. Henderson's speech was largely directed to a reply to the recent speeches of Mr. Cockran (dem., N. Y.). He was most earnestly against an issue of bonds. "Not a bond will I vote for," said Mr. Henderson emphatically. "Give the country a chance," he said in conclusion, "and it will come around all right; it is strong, powerful and rich."

Great applause greeted Mr. Henderson as he took his seat after having delivered an extension of time.

The debate drifted along in a desultory way for some time, and was taken part in by Mr. Hall (rep., Iowa), Mr. Springer (dem., Ill.), Mr. McKelighan (ind., Neb.), Mr. Blair (rep., N. H.), and Mr. Hucheson (dem., Texas).

Mr. Tawney (rep., Minn.) addressed the committee on the subject of barley, arguing that the existing rate should be inserted instead of that proposed in the pending bill. Mr. Tawney said the McKinley act had practically excluded Canadian barley, and American farmers were growing and selling to-day from 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 bushels more barley every year than they had done prior to the McKinley act.

The funny speech of the day was made just at the close of the session by Mr. Clark (dem., Mo.) and it was punctuated by laughter and applause on the democratic side, in which the republicans occasionally joined. He ridiculed the idea of protection and idealized the theory of free trade as the only policy under which a nation could be truly great.

Then Mr. Howers (rep., Cal.) spoke. He took as his text the remark of Clark that there were not enough republicans left for seed, and asserted that it did not require a very large sowing of seed to produce a magnificent crop of republicans, as witness the recent elections in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Iowa.

At the night session Mr. Bell (pop., Conn.), Mr. Sharp (rep., Wyo.), Mr. Morgan (dem., Mo.), and Mr. Childs (rep., Ill.) made short speeches.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 20.

House

The first business of the day in the house was to take from the speaker's table the house bill with a senate amendment to provide a uniform system of advertising for supplies for the executive departments. Mr. Dingley (rep.) of Maine, explained that the only change made was to exclude from the operation of the law the government printing office and the bureau of engraving and printing. Mr. Dingley moved that the house concur in the senate amendment, which was done.

No other business of importance was done in the morning hour, and after some dickering between Mr. Wilson and Mr. Burrows it was agreed that debate on the pending amendment (substituting the agricultural section of the McKinley law for the corresponding section of the Wilson bill) should close in twenty minutes.

An agreement was reached whereby three hours were to be given to the consideration of the coal schedule and three to the iron ore schedule next Tuesday.

The Henderson amendment substituting the existing laws for the agricultural schedule of the Wilson bill was defeated by a vote of 63 in the affirmative and 116 in the negative.

Messrs. Melroe (dem.) of Arkansas and Dockery (dem.) of Missouri offered amendments to the sugar schedule, which is to be considered next Monday. Both amendments are similar in their provisions and strike out the clause in the Wilson bill providing for the gradual reduction of the bounty on sugar. Instead, the bounty is to be wiped out at one sweep, and sugar absolutely free.

Farmers to Organize

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—The five great organizations of farmers, the Farmers' alliance, the Industrial union, the Grange, the Farmers' Mutual Benefit association and the Patrons of Industry, are to form a federation to be known as the Farmers' union, if plans made by the alliance at a convention held in Chicago are acceptable to the other organizations. The scheme is a big one and its promoters expect great things from it. The new organization is to be non-partisan. It is claimed, but will devote itself to bettering the condition of the farmers practically and socially.

Note at House Ridge, S. C.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Jan. 20.—The House Ridge, S. C., rioting of negroes against white people proves to be worse than anticipated. Paul Green is dead and Rhett Green will die from wounds received. The battle was in an ambush set by negroes to prevent a white constable's posse from arresting Jude, a negro desperado. The officers were betrayed, it is alleged, by a white man, who will be lynched if caught.

BUSINESS IN INDIA.

DISPATCHES SAY TRADE IS DEMORALIZED.

Government Will Not Maintain a Minimum Price for Cane Sugar—Rumor That Prince George of Russia Is Dying—Berlin Unemployed to Meet.

CALCUTTA, Jan. 20.—It is announced that owing to the fact that it is now the beginning of the season when produce is exported from India the government does not propose to maintain the minimum price of 15 pence 1 farthing per rupee for India cane sugar. Offers will now be considered on their merits. This step on the part of the government has disorganized business and has caused amazement.

GRAND DUKE GEORGE MAY DIE.

The Condition of the Second Son of the Czar Has Become Critical.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 22.—Advices received here from the Caucasus show that the condition of Grand Duke George, second son of the czar, has become critical. Grand Duke George is suffering from consumption. He was ordered by his physicians many months ago to reside in the Caucasus, and there is no doubt that the air of that region has tended to greatly prolong his life. He was 22 years old on May 9 last.

Troops Quell Riotous Convicts.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The convicts in the state prison at Ighite, Moravia, revolted yesterday and killed a warden. Troops were called out and fired on the convicts, three of whom were killed and the mutiny subdued.

Unemployed to Meet in Berlin.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—It is proposed to hold on Monday next five meetings of the unemployed workmen of Berlin and the suburban towns. Each of the meetings will be presided over by a socialist member of the reichstag.

World's Fair Commissioner of Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 22.—M. Guelovskiy, who was the Russian commissioner at the World's Fair, has been appointed to the like position at the exposition at Antwerp.

TROOPS PROTECT A PRISONER

Ordered Out at Council Bluffs, Iowa, to Save Him from Lynching.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, Jan. 22.—Leon Losier, the foot racer, was arrested yesterday afternoon in Omaha for assaulting a young girl and brought to the bluffs and lodged in the city jail. At 10 o'clock a mob gathered and was addressed by Sheriff Hazen and Col. D. B. Dalley. An alarm of fire was turned in which brought a big crowd to the scene. J. H. Musselman of Topeka, Kan., and a colored man named Berger led the mob. Officers captured Musselman, but Berger got away. At 11 o'clock the Dodge Light guards were marched to the jail under orders of Gov. Jackson to protect the prisoner. A force of Omaha police was also on hand. At midnight the crowd about the jail was small and no further trouble is feared.

STRIKE GROWING SERIOUS.

Trouble Feared at the Mingo Coal and Coke Company's Mines.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 19.—The Mingo Mountain Coal and Coke company went into the hands of a receiver a short time since and the wages of the miners were reduced. They at once went out on strike. The strike is growing more serious every hour. Deputy United States Marshal Love, who was at the mines yesterday with a force of assistants guarding the commissaries, issued a notice to all the men to go to work at the reduction offered by the receiver of the company or vacate the houses. The men, knowing this to be a bluff, and believing it to be an assumption of authority, have positively refused.

A force of Omaha police was also on hand. At midnight the crowd about the jail was small and no further trouble is feared.

WYOMING RUSTLER WAR.

Last of the Cases Growing Out of the Johnson County Invasion.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 20.—In the United States court the last of the cases which grew out of the famous Johnson county invasion was disposed of yesterday, and Clayton Cruse, who has been held to answer the charge of conspiracy to murder George A. Wellman, a deputy United States marshal killed in Johnson county in May, 1892, was discharged. Ed Sarr and Henry Smith were jointly indicted with Cruse. Smith had his trial and was found guilty, but the officers have not been able to apprehend Starr.

Shot Down Before His Wife.

HOUSTON, Texas, Jan. 20.—In a quarrel over a loan of $200 Garrett Scott shot and killed F. M. McGlone while the latter's wife on her knees begged for her husband's life.

FARMERS' ALLIANCE MEETING

Annual Convention for Reports and the Election of Officers.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—The fourteenth annual meeting of the National Farmers' alliance convened at 2 o'clock yesterday at the Commercial hotel. President W. H. Likens of Caledonia, Ohio; Lecturer George E. Laurence of Marion, Ohio, and the vice-presidents from the various states have arrived. The meeting will be of two days' duration and the time will be taken up principally with the hearing of annual reports and the election of officers.

FIGHT WITH ROBBERS.

One Officer Killed and Two Bandits Wounded at Danville, Pa.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 19.—The hottest battle with burglars that has ever taken place at Danville, the county seat of Montour county, was fought yesterday between five postoffice masked robbers on one side and 100 infuriated citizens on the other. As a result Policeman John Van Gilder of Danville was shot dead by the robbers and two desperadoes of the gang were wounded, but were taken away in boats on the Susquehanna river. Shortly after the raid on the postoffice and just as a pile of the robbers were showing a big pile of greenbacks into a bag Danville's four night police, the only guardians of 6,000 people, appeared and the shooting began. Ten shots were exchanged, when the robbers were reinforced by three more men who had been trying to blow open the safe. All were well armed and a continuous round of firing began. The bandits formed a square and, keeping close to the stone steps leading to the building, were able to escape the policemen's bullets. Numerous citizens appeared, armed with weapons of every description. The firing became so rapid that the robbers concluded to retreat to the river, and it was there that Van Gilder was slain and two of the wounded robbers were picked up and placed in skiffs. Thus the bandits escaped in the darkness, with rifles and revolvers crackling away at them. The sheriff says he will bring back the slayers of Van Gilder dead or alive.

MAY CONTEST STANFORD WILL

Late Senator's Brother Thinks $100,000 Bequest Is Not Enough.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 22.—It is rumored here that A. P. Stanford of New York, a brother of the late Leonard Stanford, will contest the latter's will. Mr. Stanford has not announced his intention to contest the will but has said, it is reported, that he is by no means satisfied with $100,000, the amount left him by Senator Stanford. He said: "If the other side manifests a disposition to be fair and reasonable I shall not bring suit. I should greatly regret the necessity of forcing the estate into the court because it would air family matters to which I do not wish to give publicity."

A NEGRO HANGED.

Lynched on a Plantation Near Bayou Sara, La.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 22.—An unknown negro was lynched on the Greenwood plantation, owned by Charles Reed, near bayou Sara, in the Parish of West Feliciana, Wednesday night. The negro is believed to have burned the corn-crib on Reed's place. A mob went to the negro's house to give him a beating. The negro threw up the window and shot and killed one man named Roberts, an agent of the state, and wounded a son of Mr. Reed. The negro then attempted to escape, but he was captured and hanged.

MARKET REPORTS.

JANUARY 20.

CHICAGO.

CATTLE—Common to Prime..... 11 50 @ 5 55
Hogs—Shipping grades..... 4 00 @ 5 35
SHEEP—Fair to choice..... 1 25 @ 3 50
WHEAT—No. 2 Red..... 69 1/2 @ 60 1/2
COIN—No. 2..... 34 1/2 @ 35
OATS—No. 2..... 29 1/2 @ 29 1/2
RYE—No. 2..... 41 @ 42
BUTTER—Choice creamery..... 23 @ 23 1/2
EGGS—Fresh..... 12 @ 13
POTATOES—Per bu..... 45 @ 54

PEORIA.

RYE—No. 2..... 46 @ 48
COIN—No. 2 White..... 32 1/2 @ 33 1/2
OATS—No. 2 White..... 28 @ 28 1/2

ST. LOUIS.

CATTLE..... 2 50 @ 4 20
HOGS..... 5 25 @ 5 30
WHEAT—No. 2 Red..... 69 1/2 @ 60 1/2
COIN—No. 2..... 34 1/2 @ 35
OATS—No. 2..... 29 1/2 @ 29 1/2

CINCINNATI.

WHEAT—No. 2 Red..... 69 @ 60
COIN—No. 2 Mixed..... 34 @ 35
OATS—No. 2 Mixed..... 29 @ 30 1/2
RYE—No. 2..... 41 @ 42
HAY..... 40 @ 60

WHEELING.

WHEAT—No. 1 Hard Spring..... 71 1/2 @ 72
CATTLE..... 2 25 @ 3 65
HOGS..... 5 00 @ 5 55
SHEEP..... 2 25 @ 4 75

MILWAUKEE.

WHEAT..... 69 1/2 @ 61 1/2
COIN—No. 2..... 34 1/2 @ 35
OATS—No. 2 White..... 29 1/2 @ 31
HAY..... 40 @ 42
PORK—New Mess..... 13 00 @ 13 00

DETROIT.

WHEAT..... 69 @ 60 1/2
COIN..... 34 1/2 @ 35
OATS..... 29 @ 30 1/2

KANSAS CITY.

CATTLE..... 1 50 @ 3 75
HOGS..... 5 20 @ 5

BY CHARLES CARPENTERS.
COPYRIGHTED BY J.B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY.

[CHAPTER III.—CONTINUED.]

As the two men sat thus in silence, each absorbed in his own thought, there came a faint, vanishing sound on the air, a cry that seemed to come from the sea.

"What is that?" Breeze Johnson looked down at the stranger beside him with mingled surprise and wonder. The voice plainly trembled.

"I don't wonder you're scared. Some swell come in and tilted her over, and she whistled."

"Why, what can it be?" "Lor' it's nothing. It's the whistling buoy. Sometimes a swell makes it speak even in a calm day like this. It's whistlin' all the time in heavy weather."

It had come back. He was surprised at the effect of this plaintive sound, like some lost soul crying in the wilderness of waters. It had shaken him to the center of his being. He knew he was not superstitious. He did not know that even this purely mechanical sound could waken such vivid memories of the dead past.

"There are many strange sounds by the sea."

"Well, yes, tolerable variety of 'em. When I was pilotin' I knew every fog-horn from Montauk to Sandy Hook. Government's put it to it sometimes to invent new sounds; though, I must say, one of these new bellin' sirens is enough to make a feller's hair turn white, if he didn't know what it was, and he was to hear one a-bollerin' in the night."

In spite of the old man's quaint humor, the Judge felt oppressed and ill at ease. He rose as if to go, and the Captain, with ready hospitality, invited him to inspect the light-house.

"Thank you, no, not now. Another time I shall be glad to visit the light-house. If it is allowable, I should like to bring my wife to see the place."

"Glad to see you; glad to see folks any time. It's powerful lonesome here at times; and maybe if you had any papers you didn't want—Don't get much good readin' here, generally."

"With the greatest pleasure. I'll bring some books to-morrow, Captain."

"Capt'n Johnson—Breeze Johnson." "Glad to know you, Captain. My name is Gearing. Judge Gearing of New York."

"Sho! Come over any time, Judge. We are allus to hum."

"Father, dinner's ready."

This from within the house in a vigorous young voice. To Judge Gearing it came in his homely speech like a tone from his youth.

"What's the matter, Judge? Feelin' unwell?"

"No. It's nothing. Perhaps I'm a little tired. I'll go back to the hotel."

"My daughter's just inside. Shan't she bring you a glass of water, or anything?"

"Thank you, no. I'll go now. Good afternoon, Captain, and thank you for your information."

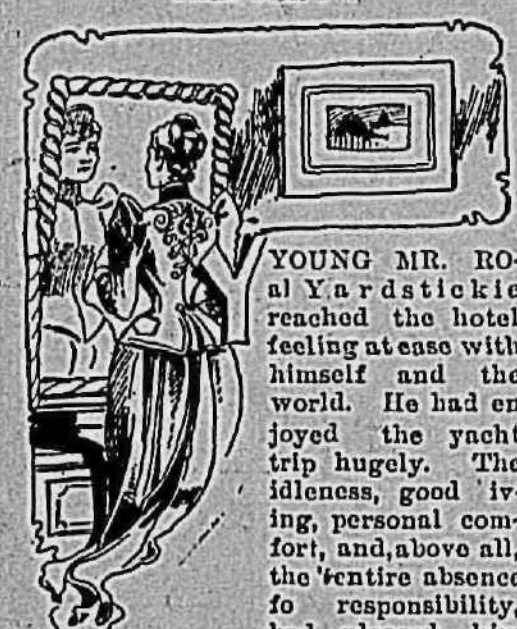

The Captain stood by his door, gazing after the retreating form of his visitor. It seemed bent and aged before its time, and feeble and uncertain of step.

"Never saw a man get so peaked all of a sudden. Stroke of the heart, I guess. Comin', Ma!"

It had come back. The voice of that strange girl, uncultivated, unmusical though it seemed, had "the sound of a voice that was still."

He would return to the town, to the courts, to society, and forget.

CHAPTER IV.

YOUNG MR. ROYAL YARDSTICKIE reached the hotel feeling at ease with himself and the world. He had enjoyed the yacht trip hugely. The idleness, good living, personal comfort, and above all, the entire absence of responsibility, had pleased him greatly. One little incident at the end of the voyage particularly gratified him. The blond girl in the light-house, he knew, was Jack Manning's skipper. He had seen him at the landing, and heard Mr. Manning tell him to prepare to sail at once. If the "big brute," as Mr. Royal Yardstickie chose to call him, were to sail in the yacht, the coast would be clear for him at the light.

"I've captured the silly old father; and now for the girl herself."

He entered the hotel in quite a contented frame of mind. His luck had not deserted him. At the door he met a city friend.

"Ah, Yardstickie! How do? Lots fun here?" "Halloo, Beamish! What's up?"

"Hop."

"Bother hops!"

"Hop was no good. It's La Rochet."

"La Rochet! What's she? Actress?"

"No. Lamkid's gone on her. Says you know her."

"Know who? What you talkin' 'bout, old man?"

"La Rochet."

"Never heard of her. Excuse me now. Must go to room."

"Governor's here, Royal. Guess he's got room for you at one of the cottages. Come to dinner early, if you want to see Lamkid's brunette angel. Ha! ha!"

The ripple of weak laughter at the end of the tender young thing's speech seemed in some manner to irritate Mr. Royal Yardstickie, and it was in no pleasant mood that he demanded the key of his room of the hotel clerk.

"Lady taken your room, sir. Judge Gearing told me to dispose of it. Porter took your things over to cottage yesterday."

"I ordered that room, and I shall pay for it. Let the woman be turned out."

"Judge paid your bill yesterday. Porter will take your bag to the cottage, sir. Room for you there."

Knowing it would be both useless and foolish to say more, he ungraciously tossed his hand-bag to a hall-boy and stalked moodily along the plank walk towards the fantastic cottage. His fun was over. Never mind; the Judge had paid his bill at the hotel and there was just so much money saved for other pleasures. He would see this La Rochet at dinner. Some Frenchwoman, perhaps.

"Says you know her."

The words came back to him like a sudden dash of cold water thrown in his face.

"Pshaw! what folly! That fool of a Lamkid's mistaken."

All this to himself. Seeing the Judge at the door, he assumed as pleasant an air as possible, and really seemed glad to meet his respected step-father.

"Good-afternoon, sir."

"Eh, Royal! Glad to see you home again. Your mother has missed you greatly. Come in. We have room for you here."

"Thank you; I had a room at the hotel."

"That's all right, my son. I found you were being charged three dollars."

"You're being charged three dollars."

"Sho! Come over any time, Judge. We are allus to hum."

"Father, dinner's ready."

This from within the house in a vigorous young voice. To Judge Gearing it came in his homely speech like a tone from his youth.

"What's the matter, Judge? Feelin' unwell?"

"No. It's nothing. Perhaps I'm a little tired. I'll go back to the hotel."

"My daughter's just inside. Shan't she bring you a glass of water, or anything?"

"Thank you, no. I'll go now. Good afternoon, Captain, and thank you for your information."

The Captain stood by his door, gazing after the retreating form of his visitor. It seemed bent and aged before its time, and feeble and uncertain of step.

"Never saw a man get so peaked all of a sudden. Stroke of the heart, I guess. Comin', Ma!"

It had come back. The voice of that strange girl, uncultivated, unmusical though it seemed, had "the sound of a voice that was still."

He would return to the town, to the courts, to society, and forget.

CHAPTER IV.

YOUNG MR. ROYAL YARDSTICKIE reached the hotel feeling at ease with himself and the world. He had enjoyed the yacht trip hugely. The idleness, good living, personal comfort, and above all, the entire absence of responsibility, had pleased him greatly. One little incident at the end of the voyage particularly gratified him. The blond girl in the light-house, he knew, was Jack Manning's skipper. He had seen him at the landing, and heard Mr. Manning tell him to prepare to sail at once. If the "big brute," as Mr. Royal Yardstickie chose to call him, were to sail in the yacht, the coast would be clear for him at the light.

"I've captured the silly old father; and now for the girl herself."

He entered the hotel in quite a contented frame of mind. His luck had not deserted him. At the door he met a city friend.

"Ah, Yardstickie! How do? Lots fun here?" "Halloo, Beamish! What's up?"

"Hop."

"Bother hops!"

"Hop was no good. It's La Rochet."

"La Rochet! What's she? Actress?"

"No. Lamkid's gone on her. Says you know her."

"Know who? What you talkin' 'bout, old man?"

"La Rochet."

"Never heard of her. Excuse me now. Must go to room."

"Governor's here, Royal. Guess he's got room for you at one of the cottages. Come to dinner early, if you want to see Lamkid's brunette angel. Ha! ha!"

The ripple of weak laughter at the end of the tender young thing's speech seemed in some manner to irritate Mr. Royal Yardstickie, and it was in no pleasant mood that he demanded the key of his room of the hotel clerk.

"Lady taken your room, sir. Judge Gearing told me to dispose of it. Porter took your things over to cottage yesterday."

"I ordered that room, and I shall pay for it. Let the woman be turned out."

"Judge paid your bill yesterday. Porter will take your bag to the cottage, sir. Room for you there."

Knowing it would be both useless and foolish to say more, he ungraciously tossed his hand-bag to a hall-boy and stalked moodily along the plank walk towards the fantastic cottage. His fun was over. Never mind; the Judge had paid his bill at the hotel and there was just so much money saved for other pleasures. He would see this La Rochet at dinner. Some Frenchwoman, perhaps.

"Says you know her."

The words came back to him like a sudden dash of cold water thrown in his face.

"Pshaw! what folly! That fool of a Lamkid's mistaken."

All this to himself. Seeing the Judge at the door, he assumed as pleasant an air as possible, and really seemed glad to meet his respected step-father.

"Good-afternoon, sir."

"Eh, Royal! Glad to see you home again. Your mother has missed you greatly. Come in. We have room for you here."

"Thank you; I had a room at the hotel."

"That's all right, my son. I found you were being charged three dollars."

"You're being charged three dollars."

"Sho! Come over any time, Judge. We are allus to hum."

"Father, dinner's ready."

This from within the house in a vigorous young voice. To Judge Gearing it came in his homely speech like a tone from his youth.

"What's the matter, Judge? Feelin' unwell?"

"No. It's nothing. Perhaps I'm a little tired. I'll go back to the hotel."

"My daughter's just inside. Shan't she bring you a glass of water, or anything?"

"Thank you, no. I'll go now. Good afternoon, Captain, and thank you for your information."

The Captain stood by his door, gazing after the retreating form of his visitor. It seemed bent and aged before its time, and feeble and uncertain of step.

"Never saw a man get so peaked all of a sudden. Stroke of the heart, I guess. Comin', Ma!"

It had come back. The voice of that strange girl, uncultivated, unmusical though it seemed, had "the sound of a voice that was still."

He would return to the town, to the courts, to society, and forget.

he shall off with me to town some fine night."

"Where?"

"I'm glad your meditations have brought you to think of her."

"I was estimating how much the bill for the room will be. Of course I'll pay it."

"Oh, never mind that. I paid it. I'll deduct the amount from your next month's allowance. Your mother has Mademoiselle Rochet with her. I haven't seen her since noon. Mademoiselle is her dressmaker."

The young man managed for a moment to conceal his anger, and then rose and entered the house. He was furious at what he fancied an insult.

"Am I a child, to be treated in this way? I'll make mother give me some money and go back to the hotel. Beamish and Lamkid are better company than the governor. Gad! I wonder who La Rochet can be. Dare say the boys have found something amusing."

He found the little house consisted of two small parlors on the lower floor, with chambers above. Opening the door into the first parlor, he discovered the room was empty.

"Busy with dress-maker. Next room, I suppose. Mademoiselle Rochet. Can't be the Rochet Beamish spoke of. He wouldn't find any fun with a dress-maker."

With that he went up-stairs and found a room where his bag and his trunk had been placed.

"Suppose this is my den. I'll make myself presentable and go down and see the creature. Lamkid says I know her. What nonsense! I couldn't know a dress-maker—not in this country."

Just then he heard a door open below, and voices in the little hall. Every word spoken was perfectly clear in such a thin shell of a house.

"I am so much obliged to you, Mademoiselle. Will you not wait and go over to the hotel with us?"

"No, I'll not wait; thank you, madame."

Then he heard another voice, and knew that the Judge had spoken to his mother.

"Royal here? My son has returned, Mademoiselle. You will excuse me."

"Certainly, madame. Ah! now I think of it, let me see the robe once more."

The voices died away, and he knew that the two women below had returned to the parlor. He went to the toilet-stand and threw some cold water in his face, then hastily opened his bag and took out a small flask.

"My nerves are torn to bits. Steady! It's come. There! I feel stronger."

No need to wonder who La Rochet might be. With an effort he tried to steady his nerves and to check the profuse perspiration that had broken out on his hands and face. Then the door below opened again, and he heard his mother's step.

"Are you up there, Royal?"

He managed to say, "Yes."

"Aren't you well, dear?"

"Certainly I am. I'll be down presently."

"Your voice seemed so changed, I was afraid you were unwell. Shall I come up?"

"No, mother. I'll come down at once."

It was best so. Best learn the worst at once, and put a bold face on the matter. He had often thought this meeting might some day come. It had come in a way that was more cruel than the most relentless fate could invent. Somehow the idleness, the irresponsibility, the sense of safety and comfort he had enjoyed on the yacht seemed already far away in the past.

The young man came slowly down the stairs, and in a nervous way kissed his fond and foolish mother.

"Come into the parlor, Royal, and rest. You look dreadfully tired. Yachting is a terrible strain on the nerves."

"Let me go out of doors, mother."

"No. Come in here where it is cool and quiet. Come, I insist. Ah, Mademoiselle, just going. My son has returned. Let me present him. Mademoiselle Rochet, my son, Royal Yardstickie."

The woman drew herself up and then bowed very low in silence. Not a sign on her handsome face that she cared in the slightest degree for the young man. He, on his part, hardly raised his eyes, and merely shuffled his feet in an attempt at a bow.

"Glad-meet Mademoiselle. Afternoon."

"Thank you for the honor. I must go, madame. I will return very soon and finish all there is to do to make everything just right."

"Oh, thank you, Mademoiselle. You are very kind, I'm sure."

"Not at all, madame. I only desire to do what is right by you—and by myself."

"You're too conscientious, my dear Mademoiselle. I'm sure we are all under great obligations to you."

"Do not speak of it, madame. I must go now, but I shall come back—to finish my work."

The young man heard everything with startling distinctness, and clothed each word with a meaning that was known only to him—and to this woman. A bright and innocent smile, and with a bright and innocent smile, that seemed to Mrs. Gearing to match the pretty shower of compliments that fell from her lips.

"Royal, dear, see Mademoiselle to the hotel, and ask the head-waiter to reserve a chair at our table for you. Of course, Mademoiselle, we shall expect you at our table also."

[To be continued.]

Gave it to him.

The Judge—What, you here again? You promised last week to reform.

Prisoner—I know that, Judge. But a man can't reform all at once. Give me a chance.

The Judge—I will. Thirty days.

The First Presbyterian church of Monticello has voted to call Rev. Mr. S. Todd, of Dubuque, Iowa, as its pastor.

Thomas Harris, a resident of Jo Daviess county since 1840, died at the age of 82 years, last week.

John P. Runkle, a retired attorney, died at his home in Littleton last week, aged 70 years.

At 5 o'clock the other morning Thomas H. Burke, travelling salesman for Hartman, Clark & Co., fish dealers of Chicago, committed suicide at the Commercial hotel at Morris, by swallowing rat poison. His home was in Detroit.

At Ursuline convent, Springfield, last week, Bishop Ryan, of Alton, officiating, assisted by several priests, Miss Florence Macaulay, the daughter of a prominent physician of Louisville, Ky., and Miss Margaret Armstrong, the daughter of a prominent business man of Springfield, took the black veil.

Mrs. M. L. Runyan, of Omaha, Neb., took the white veil, and Miss Agnes Callahan, of Chicago, was admitted as a postulant.

A new police station at South Chicago has been opened.

Judge Brown decided last week that the members of the Second regiment Illinois National guard were in legal possession of the armory on Michigan avenue, Chicago, and that they were entitled to the personal property of the Armory Amusement company, which had been seized by virtue of a distress warrant.

The three officers suspended at Rockford because of the death in jail of Mr. Dickinson were exonerated and reinstated.

The following were re-elected officers of the Merchants' National bank of Galena: President, Thomas Foster; cashier, W. H. Snyder; directors, John Fedick, J. H. Hillman, W. H. Stahl, Thomas Foster, O. O. Stillman, J. T. Birmingham, W. H. Snyder, B. F. Felt and Stewart Crawford.

The record in the celebrated Newby-Benton case, for appeal to the United States Supreme court, has been perfected, and Judge Allen has agreed to admit Newby to bail in the sum of $2,500. Judge E. C. Kramer of Fairfield, who is Newby's attorney, says that the bond will be furnished and Newby will be liberated.

The eighth annual meeting of the Illinois Rivermen's association was held at Edinburg, Jan. 9. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: John Moffitt of Clinton, president; G. W. Stokol of Bushnell, secretary; G. W. Myers of Mount Pulaski, treasurer; B. F. Steinmans of Clinton, historian. The location for the next Illinois state fishermen's tournament was captured by Edwardsville.

The trial of William O'Brien, James E. McGoldrick and William Brown, who were arrested a few weeks ago for robbing a train on the Illinois Central railway in Kentucky, a few miles south of Cairo, Nov. 11, has been continued to April.

Joseph Schaffer and Miss Josephine Weber, prominent young people, were to have been married next week at Mascoutah. The aged father and mother of the young man were taken dangerously ill this week and it is thought they can not recover. Realizing that the end was near, the aged people requested the young couple to be married immediately. The ceremony took place in the sick chamber the other evening.

The mother of Ernest Lacore, who is sentenced to be hanged at Joliet, went before the governor to try to induce him to extend clemency to her condemned youth. She had no papers, and there was nothing to lay before the governor on which he could act. This he explained to the unhappy mother, and she returned to Joliet to try to have a case made up for presentation hereafter. His mother declares that he is and always has been mentally unsound.

Ernest Hayes and Herbert Brown, two boys of about 15 years, and members of respectable families, were caught by the police Tuesday night at Elgin while in the act of robbing a residence. They had four watches in their possession at the time.

The fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor, prominent and early settlers of Cass county, was celebrated at their country residence in Hickory precinct, last week. A large number participated in this rare observance. Mr. Taylor was born in Scotland in 1816, came to Illinois in 1830, making the trip from Ohio by team, settling in Hickory precinct only a short distance from the spot where historians say Stephen A. Douglas, the famous orator and statesman, made his first public speech.

Prospectors are sinking a shaft for gold in Union county, about two miles east of Springfield, on the Ohio & Mississippi road. Some of the precious metal has been found there, but whether the ore will prove rich enough to pay for working it remains to be seen.

Bert Dubler, aged 23, was fatally stabbed in a fight at Decatur by his stepfather, B. F. Vaughan, who is in the county jail. The stabbing was the result of Dubler's attempt to enter the house of his mother against the command of Vaughan.

Bishop Dunne is about to leave for his new position in Dallas, Texas, but before going decided to visit St. Vincents at Kankakee. He arrived the other morning accompanied by a large retinue of priests and prominent Catholics laymen from Chicago and other Illinois cities. His party was received with addresses and also with military honors. In the evening the cadets and students of the college gave a dress parade and also a literary program.

The response by Bishop Dunne to the addresses was a fine masterpiece and was exceedingly well received. The bishop also visited the Academy of Notre Dame, where he was accorded a reception.

OVER THE WATER.

The caves and grottoes discovered in Carniola, a province of Austria, in 1880 are said to be equal in extent to our Kentucky wonder.

A foreign correspondent estimates that there are about 8,000 Americans in France, less than one-fifth of whom are engaged in business.

Berlin is to have an Italian exposition next summer. Parts of Rome, Venice, Naples and other cities are to be reproduced realistically, with restaurants, gondolas, orange groves, etc.

The last new stage performance for children is shaving. An eight-year-old girl, daughter of the "champion shaver of the world," who gives exhibitions of rapid work at the London aquarium, had been shaving thirteen men in ten minutes every night until the law stopped her to investigate.

Twenty-one years ago there were 223 bearers of titles in the French chamber of deputies where now there are but sixty-five. Only three marquises are left out of thirty, while the counts have declined from fifty-two to fifteen. At this rapid rate of disappearance a few decades more will see almost the entire extinction of titles in the republic.

Two persons in Berlin are reported to have died of typhoid fever contracted by eating raw oysters. This statement has been cabled from Europe. It will require some verification before it can be accepted, says the Medical Record. "If typhoid bacilli get into oysters and grow there, it will be a very new habit, for they do not grow in brine, so far as has been known."

Pen Points.

To have a friend you must be one. Small troubles sometimes throw large shadows.

Hypocrisy is the shell after the kernel is eaten out.

The wicked man hates vice in everybody but himself.

Good looks, to be permanent, must begin on the inside.

Man forms and educates the world, but woman educates man.

Don't think a cause is not good because somebody ridicules it. Learn as if you were to live forever; live as if you were to die to-morrow.

For the buyer a hundred eyes are too few; for the seller one is enough.

Never be found living where you would not be willing to be found dead.

The older we become the more the wheels of time seem to have been oiled.

There are more people who wish to be loved than there are who are willing to love.

The man who lives to help other people will soon have other people living to help him.

Love without esteem cannot reach far or rise very high; it is an angel with but one wing.

The easiest money to spend and the hardest money to save is that which we have not yet earned.

The monster water wheel at the Calumet and Hecla copper mine, Lake Superior region, weighs 200 tons.

If it is right for the husband to neglect his family and go to lodge three or four nights a week, why isn't it right for the wife to do it?

Great Little Things.

One of the prize curiosities of the old Mehlman museum was a cherry stone basket containing fourteen pairs of ivory dice.

Max Kaufman, a Berlin jeweler, has made a perfect ivory chariot with movable wheels, the whole weighing but two grains.

Iron visiting cards, forty of which placed one on another, make only a tenth of an inch in thickness, are a novelty in Germany.

Turrianus is said to have fashioned miniature mills "that would run of themselves" so minute that a monk could carry one in his sleeve, yet so powerful that they would grind enough wheat in a day to make bread for eight men.

Oswald Northingens, the artist, is said to have made 1,400 dishes that could all be stowed away in a common thimble! This must be true, for we are told that Pope Paul V. counted them with the aid of a pair of spectacles made by the dish artist.

Pliny tells of a copy of Homer's Iliad known in his day that was so small that it could be hidden in the shell of a hen's egg. In late years Professor Schrieber, the inventor of the new "microstereographic process," translated both the Iliad and the Odyssey into a volume so small that it could be hidden in the shell of an English walnut.

CUT THIS OUT.</

